ASSASSINATION Of King Edward In London Foiled

PRIEST RAPS LONDON AND BROWDER

Tells Pension Session 'Money-Changers' Must Be Ousted

CLEVELAND, (AP)—The Rev. Fr. Charles E. Coughlin joined political forces with Dr. Francis E. Townsend and the Rev. Gerald L. K. Smith today, and in an address at the Townsend national convention attacked President Roosevelt as a "liar and betrayer."

The founder of the National Union for Social Justice said before his address that he and the leader of the Townsend old age pension plan, and Smith, head of the "Share-the-Wealth" movement, would stand together.

When he addressed Townsend delegates at Public Auditorium, he declared Dr. Townsend had approved the principles of the Union party, which Dr. Coughlin previously had endorsed, and added that while the delegates were not asked to endorse the party, "How many of you will follow Dr. Townsend?"

The response was a cheer as delegates leaped to their feet. Fr. Coughlin told the delegates "as far as the National Union is concerned, no candidate which it endorses for congress can support (Please Turn to Page 2, Col. 4)

Strikers Await Signal Ending Labor Warfare

TRIPLE—Coughlin, Smith, Townsend—ALLIANCE

These three—the Rev. Fr. Charles E. Coughlin, (left) and the Rev. Gerald L. K. Smith and Dr. Francis E. Townsend, shown arm in arm (Doe wearing the straw)—today announced at the Townsend pension plan convention in Cleveland that they had joined forces to defeat Roosevelt, Landon and Browder. Coughlin heads the National Union for Social Justice party, Smith the "Share-the-Wealth" movement of the late Senator Huey Long, and Townsend the old-age pension movement.

WPA BOOSTS WAGES IN COUNTY

10 Per Cent Increase Goes Into Effect Here Aug. 1

Wages of WPA workers in Orange county will be boosted 10 per cent beginning Aug. 1. Dan Mulherron, county WPA manager, announced this fact today following a conference in San Francisco with Frank Y. McLaughlin, state WPA director.

With the monthly payroll now $143,000, the increase will add a total of $14,300 to the pay of approximately 2300 workers. The new rates will become effective on payroll periods which commence on or after Aug. 1, so that not all workers will be on the higher wage until Aug. 10, Mulherron said.

Hours Remain Same
Workers in the common labor classification who now receive $48 per month will be paid $52.80, but will continue to work the regulation 120 hours per month.

Mulherron revealed that the purpose of his trip north had been to have Orange county placed on a par with Los Angeles and San Diego counties, where the rate is $55 per month for common labor. He found, however, that an act of congress setting up WPA barred the reclassification, which is based on the population of the largest city.

Only County Affected
State directors, however, are allowed to increase wages 10 per cent where they feel it is warranted, and McLaughlin granted such an increase. No other counties are affected by the order. Mulherron obtained the concession, he reported, by showing that living costs in Orange county are practically the same as in the adjoining district.

New rates under McLaughlin's order increase semi-skilled workers from $55 to $60.50 per month, skilled workers from $70 to $77 per month, and professional and technical workers from $77 to $84.70 per month.

MUTILATION IS BRANDED HOAX

WASHINGTON, (AP)—Detective Chief Bernard W. Thompson today termed "absolutely groundless" the story of red-haired Jean Toll that she was mutilated and left to die in a gas-filled apartment here by New York gangsters.

Thompson issued a statement to reporters after Joe Silvers and Leo Maimone, New Yorkers, had been freed by a United States commissioner from charges of mutilating the girl. They pleaded innocent when arraigned.

Cotton on Bourbon Committee of 100

Truce has evidently been declared in the war between Col. William H. Nebbett of Los Angeles and Hamilton H. Cotton of San Clemente, for control in the California Democratic ranks.

Cotton was the only Orange county man named by William Gibbs McAdoo, Nebbett's law partner, on the 100-man committee to handle the Bourbon campaign in California, announced yesterday.

PACT TO BE APPROVED TODAY

Pickers Will Receive 20 Cents Per Hour Plus Box Payment

Striking orange pickers, whose walkout has cost themselves, growers, and taxpayers well over $100,000 during the past month, were ready to go back to work today.

Approval of an agreement drawn up by growers, Mexican consular representatives and pickers was scheduled for this afternoon and tonight. Pickers were to meet at Orange, Placentia, Fullerton and La Habra to sign the truce, fixing working conditions and wages.

Instead of the 40-cent flat hourly rate demanded at first by the strikers, pickers would be paid 20 cents an hour for a nine-hour day under the agreement. In addition, they would receive three cents a box for all fruit picked in excess of 30 boxes in a day. Thus the minimum wage, even if the worker picked only 30 boxes, would be $1.80 a day.

Pickers will be guaranteed free transportation to and from the orchards and will be furnished with picking rings and knives, it was reported. The bonus system, basis of objections from some workers, will be arranged by the individual employers.

Hazardous Job

King Edward VIII of England today was the target at which a would-be assassin aimed a pistol while the king was riding his horse in a public procession. No shot was fired, a woman knocking the gun from the hand of the man who aimed it at the king.

BOURBONS TO GAIN 5000

Backs Predicts Shift as Registration Period Nears End

By 9 o'clock tonight, when registration of voters for the August primaries closes, more than 5000 Orange county voters will have changed their party affiliation from Republican and other parties to Democratic, County Clerk Joe Backs estimated today.

Most of these are believed to be Townsendites and sympathizers hastening to climb on the Harry Sheppard bandwagon. Sheppard, a Yucaipa man, is a Townsend-endorsed congressional candidate from this district. More than 4700 had changed their registrations at noon today, Backs said. The size of this figure astounded political leaders, who had expected a switch of not more than 2000 voters.

Backs predicted a registration of virtually 63,000 in this county this year. There were 60,398 registrations for the May primaries. Peak registration was hit two years ago, when 66,354 voters signed the sheets.

The county clerk said that he would keep his office open until 9 p. m. to accommodate those caught in the last minute rush.

Collins Returns From Hawaii

Congressman Sam L. Collins was back in his Santa Ana office today after a three weeks trip to Hawaii.

The journey was part of a congressional inspection of army air posts. Mrs. Collins, who made the trip with the congressman, remained in Honolulu while he went to the island of Hawaii.

He inspected air posts there and the army post near the volcano, Kilauwa.

SUSPECT IS GRABBED BY OFFICERS

Woman Knocks Loaded Gun, Aimed at Ruler, From Man's Hand

(Copyright, 1936, by Associated Press)
LONDON.—An attempt to assassinate King Edward VIII of England was frustrated today by a "woman in grey" and by quick-acting London police.

The woman, spectators said, knocked a loaded revolver from the hand of a stocky, full-faced man who aimed it at the king as he rode at the head of troops to Buckingham palace.

Police Grab Him
In a violent scuffle, the weapon was precipitated into the roadway. Police took the would-be assassin into custody.

The prisoner's name was given by police as George Andrew McMahon, 34, a Scotsman, described as a newspaperman. He was charged with intent to endanger the king's life and with unlawful possession of a firearm. Authorities described him as slightly bald and seemingly clubfooted.

Kept in Custody
He limped to the dock in Bow street station and was remanded for eight days.

Detective Inspector John Sands, giving formal evidence of the arrest, said the prisoner told him en route to the station: "It's all the fault of Sir John Simon (the home secretary)."

"I wrote him last night and phoned him this morning. 'The king wasn't hurt in any way, was he?' 'I didn't want to hurt him in any way.'"

Remarks Not Explained
Sands, describing how the man was taken into custody by constables, said:

"I was handed this five-chambered revolver (he produced the weapon) which was loaded with ball and ammunition in four chambers. (Please Turn to Page 2, Col. 1)

ELY BOLTING FOR LANDON

SPRINGFIELD, Mass. (AP)—Former Gov. Joseph B. Ely, of Massachusetts, breakfasting today with John D. M. Hamilton, chairman of the Republican national committee, virtually announced that he would campaign for the Republican presidential nominee, Gov. Alf Landon of Kansas.

At the close of their conference, Ely, a Democrat and one of five prominent party members who signed a protest against the re-nomination of President Roosevelt, was asked whether he would stump for Landon.

"What else can it mean?" he countered, apparently referring to his conference with Hamilton.

FLOOD EXPERT BEGINS TASK

First of the three appraisers who will set the value of approximately $2,000,000 worth of land to be purchased by Orange county for rights-of-way in connection with the $13,000,000 federal flood control program here, started work at noon today.

He was engaged by the board of supervisors this morning, a few minutes after his arrival in Santa Ana from Visalia. He is certified by the Federal Land bank of Berkeley.

The appraiser, W. P. Stanton, said today that two others recommended by the Orange county job probably would arrive the first of the week.

ICE MAKER HAS HOTTEST JOB IN S.A.

By FRANK ORR

Within fifty feet of each other are Santa Ana's coldest and hottest jobs.

And they're both in the ice making business, which is pretty good these days, thank you.

Out of a dim, frosty-looking room at the Diamond Ice company popped Ben Fairchild, who looked like a happy man. He has to keep the ice out of the sun these days. He was escorting a big hunk of ice out into the open.

"Yeah, this isn't bad," he said. "I guess it's a cool job. I hadn't thought much about it." The temperature was 30 degrees.

That room he slid out of was practically paradise. Long lines of ice blocks glistened along the walls. Every so often another one slid

CITY SEARED BY OLD SOL

Grab your hats, boys, here we go again!

Insatiable Old Sol set out today to show that his mark of 97 degrees set yesterday was just a warm up. Today at 12:30 the thermometer stood at 94, "and going up." It stood a good chance of passing that 97-degree mark.

Yesterday Santa Anans sought shade when the thermometer hit 97 at 2:15 p. m., after a start of 78 degrees at 7 a. m. Today thermometers registered 80 degrees at 7 a. m., and the racing Sun King had a two-point lead on yesterday.

A year ago on July 15 Santa Ana thermometers reached a high of 97, and on July 16 skidded down to 94.

The lowest temperature recorded in the past 24 hours was 66 degrees, reached at 5 a. m. today.

Heat Still Baking Nation; 4100 Die

CHICAGO, (AP)—As a blistering sun beat down upon millions of acres of hard-baked fields in the vast Middle West today, forecasters saw no relief ahead from a 13-day heat wave and prolonged aridity which has inflicted damage that crop experts estimated would exceed that of the 1934 drought. Deaths from heat exceeded 4100, with most of the fatalities centered in Minnesota, Illinois, Michigan, Wisconsin and Missouri. The Minnesota total was 741, with 599 dead in Michigan and 485 in Illinois.

Harrassed farmers looked to skies discouragingly clear for signs of moisture which might salvage part of their plantings. Weather bureau reports showed only a spattering of rain in the drought belt during the past 24 hours.

Grain authorities studied reports indicating corn losses would be distinctly greater than in 1934. Irreparable damage was reported to corn in Oklahoma, Kansas and Missouri throughout Indiana. The crop loss to the nation to date was estimated at more than a billion dollars.

Traders rushed to purchase corn, and in the Chicago corn pits futures were swiftly mounted to the highest price permitted in any 24-hour period. Wheat also rose rapidly.

The heat centered its fury on the plains states and the Mississippi and Ohio valleys. The forecast for tomorrow was continued heat, except for cooler weather in the Dakotas, northwestern Minnesota and northwestern Nebraska.

At Bismarck, N. D., Rexford G. Tugwell, resettlement administrator, planned to cut all red tape to speed relief for the drought-stricken farmers.

Sleeper said today he had received a communication from the state board stating that unless something unforeseen comes up, it will make no change in the county's rolls. Last year the state board voted to equalize the assessments in all counties at 50 per cent of actual property value, and gave the Orange county roll a 35 per cent boost.

This county had had one of the lowest assessment ratios in the state, amounting to about a third of actual property value.

room, as big flywheels zip around and create a little breeze. The only trouble with the breeze is that it's the wrong kind. A smoke-stack gives off some heat, the compressors and generator the rest. "Not much warmer in there than it is outside," said Weimer, who looked contented enough. But the ice disappeared from the beard. The beard practically was singed off. Weimer's an optimist. A thermometer between the doors, where there was plenty of ventilation, showed a temperature of 96 degrees. But close to the engines, where the beard was singed, there is no doubt the temperature was well above 100 degrees.

CAR LOSES IN CRASH WITH TRAIN

Five Persons Injured in Traffic Mishaps Today and Yesterday

A motorist whose car wouldn't quite fit under a box car and a small boy who was riding on the back of a truck were recovering from traffic injuries today, along with three other accident victims injured yesterday and last night.

Ralph Gutierrez, 13, El Modena, was severely injured yesterday afternoon when a truck, on the back of which he had climbed, backed into an automobile. He sustained several broken ribs, a possible punctured lung and a collapsed lung. His condition was described as "fair" at the county hospital.

Don S. Casey, 22, 1907 South Birch street, was cut and bruised early this morning when his car struck a Santa Fe box car at Chestnut and First streets.

Tom Renfrew, 11, 606 West Second street, and Jimmy Selbe, 9, 1008 North Parton street, incurred pavement burns, cut and bruises last night in a collision on West Fourth street. The bicycle on which they were riding was struck by a car driven by Sylvester Vasquez, Costa Mesa. Vasquez was jailed by police on a drunk charge.

Alva Paul, 35, Los Angeles, was cut and bruised yesterday west of South Gate when his car overturned after a collision with a car driven by Isaac N. Day, 61, 329 McFadden street.

bers but not in the top chamber which gave immediate access to the barrel.

He said there was no evidence the weapon had been fired for a considerable time.

Find Ammunition

The assassin pushed his way through ranks of spectators and bobbies as the king in uniform, clattered down Constitution Hill on his way to the palace after presenting colors to troops.

Inspector Sands produced two rounds of ammunition taken from the man, along with a black-bordered envelope containing a postcard portrait of the king and a newspaper on which was pencilled: "May I love you?"

Denies Plot

After the accused had been remanded to jail, a solicitor representing him stated:

"In view of reports which appeared in tonight's evening papers, the prisoner wishes to say there was no attempt at assassination nor was there any intention of assassination."

Until recently, the defendant was quoted as saying, he had been editor of a paper called the "Human Gazette."

Attempts at violence against members of the royal family are rare in Great Britain.

Other Incidents

One of the last occurred May 11, 1935, at the jubilee celebration in Belfast when a resident of a home threw a bottle at the Duke of Gloucester's automobile.

A similar incident occurred July 14, 1934, in Edinburgh, when a bottle was thrown at the car in which King George and Queen Mary were returning from the Hamilton races.

Some witnesses said they thought King Edward's horse was struck on the flank by the revolver.

Said William Thomas: "The king noticed something as he rode by and kept his eyes on some one in the crowd."

"The next thing I saw was a mounted policeman jump from his horse and seize a man."

Hill, Sol Gonzalez, Lucas Lucio, and others had asked his permission to hold discussion meetings for the next 36 hours. Permission granted. They told him they expected the strike would be over within a day.

The agreement will be presented to meetings today by Ernest Romero, Hill's vice-consul; Lucio, local consular representative; Gonzalez, Santa Ana merchant, and a group of growers' representatives. Spokesmen for the pickers are to sign the agreement if it is approved in each meeting place.

Posts Bail

Meanwhile Fred West, San Francisco organizer, jailed on vagrancy charges Tuesday, was out of jail on $1000 bond furnished by a Los Angeles attorney. Joe Espinoza, said to be president of the pickers' union in Orange county, and William Velarde, labor leader, were still in jail. They will have a preliminary hearing Saturday in Fullerton justice court.

Reports from San Francisco yesterday said a Walter Cowan, state federation of labor representative, planned to fly here last night to investigate the arrest of West, because some reports said he is a representative of the federation. Cowan, however, had not appeared here today.

One Arrest

The final agreement, hoped to end the strike definitely today, was sponsored by Adolfo de la Huerta, former president of Mexico, now free-lance representative for the Mexican government. It was formulated by de Huerta, other Mexican representatives and a committee of growers.

One more striker was arrested today.

State Rivalries Discarded

BOY 'LOST' IN SEWER DRAIN Comes Out After Long Hunt

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—A 13-year-old boy's underground explorations were ended today as 50 policemen, sheriff's deputies, firemen, county surveyors and sewer workers sighed in relief.

Orville Stocker was hunted for five and one-half hours yesterday in eastside storm drains by an army of 50. Searchers scrambled through miles of subterranean channels with gas masks and flash lights. Lookouts were stationed at all drain openings and the Los Angeles river outlet. Fear the lad might succumb to suffocating poisonous gases was expressed.

But Orville, safe and sound, wasn't more than a block away from his home all that time.

SHELLY HORTON IS INJURED PEST BATTLE IS EXPENSIVE

Extent of injuries suffered by Shelly Horton, son of Dr. Roy Horton, Santa Ana, who was traveling in National guard truck when it overturned 25 miles north of Van Nuys yesterday morning, have not been reported by hospital authorities, according to the youth's father.

Four Orange county youths were injured in the accident, it was reported, with two of the boys treated at the scene of the wreck and then sent on to San Luis Obispo for National guard maneuvers. Young Horton and Bob Jacobs were taken to the Los Angeles county hospital for observation, it was reported.

Leaders Confer On Soil Plan

Farm advisors and secretaries of soil conservation associations of seven southern counties gathered here today in a special meeting called to consider plans for the soil-building and other activities under AAA for the coming year.

Meeting in the conference room of the Orange County Farm bureau, the group was led by Prof. L. B. Smith of Berkeley, assistant director of the agricultural extension service of the University of California.

Discuss Plan to Enlarge Lots

A proposal to consolidate lots in the Lasby subdivision, Laguna Beach, to bring them to sizes in conformity with county building regulations, will be brought before the county planning commission when it meets next Thursday, it was learned today.

L. Deming Tilton, planning consultant; Nat H. Neff, road superintendent; and W. K. Hillyard, county surveyor, will confer with the commission.

Bar Members Hear Senator Roseberry

Orange County Bar association members last night heard Sen. L. H. Roseberry of Los Angeles speak on "The Status of Modern Trusts" at their regular monthly meeting at the Green Cat cafe here.

Senator Roseberry is vice president and manager of the first department of the Security-Trust National Bank of Los Angeles.

Today on rioting charges. He was Aurilio Ruiz, 42, La Jolla, arrested in Orange this morning.

Negotiations for settlement of the vegetable workers' strike in Los Angeles county were seriously hampered today because of the absence of Velarde, in jail here. He is said to be head of the workers' union there. Negotiations were to remain at a standstill until Velarde is able to appear.

EXTORTIONER SUSPECTS NABBED

NEW YORK. (AP)—Two men arraigned on a charge of suspicion of extorting $2000 from Harry Bannister, former husband of Ann Harding, screen actress, were held today in $50,000 bail each.

Magistrate William A. Farrell fixed the high bail for Jerome Jacobs, 48, a lawyer, and Raymond Deringer, 39, a motion picture operator, at the request of Assistant District Attorney Harold W. Hastings who said he planned to present the case to the grand jury on Monday.

Jacobs denied any knowledge of the alleged extortion attempt. Hastings said he obtained a full confession from Deringer last night.

He said the accused men capitalized on the marital difficulties of Bannister and Miss Harding. Deringer, he said, received $2000 from Bannister in 1934 on his promise to relinquish certain affidavits and other evidence concerning Bannister. Hastings said Deringer didn't carry out his part of the bargain.

Police said two other men were sought in the case.

the great betrayer and liar, Franklin Roosevelt.

"He who promised to drive the money changers from the temple has built up the greatest public debt in the nation's history," he said. "Is that driving the money changers from the temple?"

Calls Him 'Betrayer'

Fr. Coughlin declared "he has adopted Communistic measures. The National Union will not induct any candidate who advocates the re-election of the great betrayer, Franklin Delano Roosevelt."

He said he was forced to "repudiate" the philosophy of Gov. Alf M. Landon, Republican nominee for President.

Shortly before entering public auditorium for his address, which was announced only last night, Coughlin met with Dr. Townsend and the Rev. Mr. Smith. "We will stand together against this unholy trinity of Landon, Roosevelt and Browder," said Dr. Coughlin, after the conference.

In his reference to Landon in the address, Father Coughlin said "Today when Mr. Landon advocates the restoration of the gold standard, I am forced to repudiate his philosophy and platform as a return to the days of economic slavery."

Coughlin began his speech slowly, speaking extemporaneously. "It's not my business to come here to convince you of what resolutions you should adopt at this convention. It's not my business either to persuade you of what course you should adopt."

Not Political Party

"I shall simply tell you of some of the policies that have been adopted by the National Union for Social Justice. First, it is not a political party, nor shall it ever become one."

"Government in this beloved nation of ours is represented by three branches—the legislative branch where the laws are made, the executive branch where the laws are enforced, and the legal branch where the laws are judged constitutional before they can be enforced."

"Ever since the founding fathers wrote that immortal document, there appeared in the writing that congress has the right to regulate and coin money."

Constitution 'Oked'

"We have no quarrel with the constitution."

"Not that we need to change our constitution. The day has arrived when we must expel those who have perverted our constitution."

"Thus the National Union is not established upon a radical excursion in the wilderness of communism or socialism, nor on the other hand is it wedded to those die-hard Tories who persist in telling us that we must support the Roosevelts or the Landons with their love feast on the banquet table of America for the money-changers."

'Be Christian, be American, be constitutional.'

"No candidate for congress can receive the endorsement of the National Union unless his record shows that he has favored its principles."

Raps All Three

"As far as the National Union is concerned, no candidate which it endorses for congress can support the great betrayer and liar, Franklin Roosevelt, he added a moment later."

"Today when Mr. Landon advocates the restoration of the gold standard, I am forced to repudiate his philosophy and platform as a return to the days of economic slavery."

"They sold you out for a mess of pottage. Is that democracy? Does democracy mean that we will fill our highways with men on the dole?"

"Where Browder (Communist) stands I will not stand."

"There are certain politicians who think more of their jobs, their patronage than they do of their Dr. Townsend and his principles."

"Why should there be want in the midst of plenty?" asked Coughlin.

Congressman Sweeney of Ohio was asked publicly by Father Coughlin to choose between the National Union and Roosevelt.

"On this platform," Father Coughlin said, "or somewhere in

PROSPERITY FILLS S.A. HOSPITAL

The more people there are in hospitals, the greater is the community's prosperity!

Paradoxical as the statement seems, Dr. G. Emmett Raitt, president of the board of directors of the Santa Ana Valley hospital, reported today that the second floor of the hospital, closed since 1932, has been reopened to accommodate the increasing number of patients.

End of the economic depression, and recent installation of new equipment at the hospital, a non-profit organization, were cited by Dr. Raitt as chief factors in the influx of Orange county residents seeking medical aid.

During the depression, many were forced to postpone medical attention, due to inability to pay for hospitalization. Others sought aid at the county hospital, Dr. Raitt said.

Now that greater affluence permits them to secure treatment, they are taking advantage of the equipment at the hospital, which possesses the most powerful X-ray machine for deep therapy to be found in the county, he said.

An oxygen tent for pneumonia sufferers, a drathermy machine and other new equipment are now available. With improvements to deaden sound, and other changes at the hospital, facilities are now better for patients and doctors, the director said.

the audience there is a Democrat indorsed by the National Union for congressman. His name is Martin L. Sweeney.

"Congressman Sweeney, although the National Union has indorsed you, you are aware that you will lose that support if you stand for the re-election of Roosevelt. How do you stand?"

"I know he's double-crossing," said Sweeney. "I stand with the National Union."

Coughlin said the National Union would retain its separate identity, and added:

"There is your Dr. Townsend, there is the Rev. Gerald Smith. With those two I stand foursquare."

"How many of you will follow Dr. Townsend?"

Tax Collector Is Magician; Cuts Dollar In 260 Parts

By BOB GUILD

They've got a new machine over in the tax collector's office.

They don't know whether it will work yet, but if it does, it will eliminate more than 1,000,000 pen strokes in making out more than 7500 tax bills during the next four months.

Like a once popular song, you feed the envelopes in here, push the middle valve down, and they come out here. It works like an addressograph, but it utilizes the plates used by the auditor's office in making up tax sheets. It makes the plates work twice, which is quite a saving.

Any little gadget like that, which will make any other little gadget do twice the work it ordinarily does, constitutes an enormous saving in an office dealing with the detail that John Lamb's office does. Think of the labor involved in dividing, subtracting, totaling, checking, rechecking and marking for distribution $4,482,731.22 in tax funds collected this year!

What Happens?

Here's what happens to John Taxpayer's dollar, when John Lamb gets his hands on it.

In the first place, there are 431 codes under which money comes to the tax collector. Not to you, of course. You write a check, and that's that. But the tax collector classifies your check according to code—if you live in Santa Ana your check goes under code 2 for distribution. If you live in Laguna Beach it will go anywhere from code 38 to code 64. There are 431 of these.

There also are a number of special codes, sanitary district codes, acquisition and improvement codes. Lots of codes. Hundreds of them.

Very well, you get your code, and John Lamb gets your dollar. He does not, he says, turn it over to the county treasurer with a polite note informing him that "there is another dollar to stick in your sock."

Who Gets It?

It is divided into a number of points, places or parts, depending on what you call them, say 260 to the average dollar. Of this the county takes part, say 57; schools take 123 parts, road districts take 34 parts, special assessments take 11 or 12 parts, street improvements get a slice, bonds and other assessments, such as sanitary districts, sewer districts, take a part, and by the time Lamb's crew gets through, you'd never recognize your dollar.

It's filled four pages and been divided into 19,000 separate calculations and figures.

If you were assessed for $100 in code 2 (Santa Ana to you) you would pay $4.55 in taxes. Sixty-nine cents would go to the county, $1.70 to the Santa Ana schools, $1.55 to the city, 10 cents to the Orange County Flood Control district, 3 cents to the Orange County Harbor district, 1 cent to the Orange County Cemetery district, 20 cents to the Metropolitan Water district, and 30 cents to acquisition and improvement districts.

Goes on Indefinitely

That's easy, but most times you pay something like $5.13 in taxes, and that goes into mills, and decimals, and other intricate things, making John Lamb divide those dollars into 260 (did we say) parts, and divide it.

Then the tax collector gets busy and adds it all up again, making it into the same old dollar, just to see if he can do it. (Small boys do this with clocks.)

Finding that he can, he once more smashes the atom, and spreads your tax dollar around as many places as he can. This goes on indefinitely.

That's one of the reasons they've got a new machine in there, that will make address plates do two plates' work.

JAMES SNAKE TEST OFFER IS DENIED

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—Through his attorney, Robert S. James offered at his murder trial today to put his foot in a box containing two rattlesnakes in efforts to disprove Charles Hope's weird story of the death of James' seventh wife, Mary Busch James.

Superior Judge Charles W. Fricker turned down the offer. "This courtroom is not a threatening circus," he said. "There's been enough sensationalism here already."

The state contends the two snakes are the ones Hope said he bought at James' request. Hope said James thrust his wife's foot into a box containing a snake before she was found dead in a lily pond at their home. Prosecutors charge James drowned his wife in a bathtub after exposing her to the snake fangs and then dumped her body into the pond.

James' attorney, R. E. Parsons, told the court if James could put his foot into the snake box in court for the length of time Hope said Mrs. James' foot was exposed to the reptiles, he would prove two points. He said he would prove first the snakes would not strike as quickly as Hope indicated, and second, that if they did, the bite would not be serious. He contended the snakes were not deadly.

One of the snakes escaped in the courtroom yesterday, creating an uproar, with women screaming and jumping up on seats, before it was recaptured.

BAY BRIDGE STEEL WORK FINISHED

Great Span Will Open To Automobile Traffic On Nov. 12

SAN FRANCISCO, (AP)—A wind-whipped American flag will signalize completion of major steel work on the $77,200,000 San Francisco-Oakland bay bridge when the final "chord" is hoisted into place, probably today or tomorrow.

Then, as smiling riveters finish their work, a larger flag will be unfurled from the dizzy top of pier W-1, marking the final heavy steel structure on a project which presented unusual dangers and difficult engineering problems.

23 Die on Job

Twenty-three workmen have met death in plunges from the tall towers or in perilous underwater construction jobs. One fatality occurred for every 14,000 tons of steel, a very low ratio considering the multiple problems.

The last piece of steel will be a "chord" placed in pier W-1. Engineers had not determined whether a 5½-ton chord or one weighing 11 tons would be placed last.

Fifteen men will be employed in the operation, a foreman, a hoister and a crew of 13. When the chord settles into place the battered flag, used to mark completion of other units, will flutter to the breeze.

Started in 1933

Steel, weighing 230,000 tons, went into construction of the span built by the state of California with Reconstruction Finance corporation funds.

Grounds for the bridge construction was broken on Yerba Buena Island, in San Francisco bay, July 9, 1933. At present the span is 99.4 per cent completed and minor steelwork only remain to be finished.

The bridge is 8½ miles long, including the approaches, 4½ miles of which are over water. Work is several weeks ahead of schedule and the span will be opened to automobile traffic on Nov. 12.

This is what we've done, this is what we've done. We've made the Donkey shake with fear. And made the Elephant shed a tear. Willie Townsend march far and near. In two short years."

Charles M. Roush of Chicago wrote the words.

Raoul Solis, Mexican mauler, a favorite with Orange County Athletic club fight fans, will be married to Miss Cruz Villa of Kansas City in Long Beach Sunday... as a wedding gift he would like that gold belt, emblematic of the mythical lightweight title of the county, and Promoter Sam Sampson's prize to the winner of tonight's bout with Don Benzo of Anaheim... three victories will give the lightweight permanent possession of the belt.

Kenneth Miller is speeding eastward by train to Michigan today on a two weeks' vacation... plans to return with a new car... the skipper of the City league's 1935 softball champions has placed Darwin Scott, third baseman, in charge of the Elks' nine... Joe Cornelius, pitcher and outfielder, will hold down Alex Clark's shortstop post against the Latter Day Saints Monday night... Clark must attend a company meeting... Acquisition of Ellwood Lindley, Santa Barbara State collegian, to aid Gil Yorba on the mound has caused Manager Miller to predict the B. P. O. E.'s will win the second-half gonfalon and thereby enter the playoffs with the Harold Finley-Don Hillyard Commercial Nationals.

The First National Bank president, Alfred I. Mellenthin, is a personal friend of Mike Gibbons, eastern sports authority who went on record months before the fight as seeing no sign of greatness in Joe Louis, the fellow they used to call the Brown Bomber and the Dark Destroyer. Gibbons mentioned Louis' defense appeared inadequate against a fighter who would fearlessly throw a right; said he thought Joe's so-called poker face was merely a sign of dumbness and explained that he, Gibbons, no matter what his natural abilities, could become a great fighter without going over the old experience route, which Mike considers four or five years of actual ring experience, in professional boxing.

Ed Daley, nightball veteran, made his debut as Huntington Beach's rightfielder with three hits off Westminster's Errington Tuesday night... the chunky brother of Anaheim's Leavitt Daley is a Los Angeles flatfoot, studying to be a G-man.

John Ward of Garden Grove is working on the San Francisco bridge... Reece (Pinky) Greene of Santa Ana High is studying at U. S. C... Bill Foote of the Saints is still in Minnesota.

REMATCH PICO WITH LUTZE

Promoter Sam Sampson of the Orange County Athletic club today announced that he had tentatively signed Nick Lutze and Juan Olaguivall-Pico, the Basque-Mexican wrestler, for their third consecutive match here.

Ending with both men out of the ring, and with fans and wrestlers dissatisfied with the decision of Referee Rutherford, who gave the match to Lutze after a fan had pushed Lutze back into the ring, Sampson side-tracked all other possible matches and signed the two for a rematch. All that remains is the settling of the purse split. Lutze is holding out for a 75-25 split while Pico wants the purse divided 60-40.

NEW YORK. (AP)—Hot tip: Don't sell those Detroit Tigers short... If the Bengals can win 13 of their last 18 games without Mickey Cochrane or Hank Greenberg, what will they do when these babies get back into the lineup?... Suppose you noticed that the Boston Bees, who didn't cost a dime, are almost even with the gold plated Red Sox in the standings... Mebbe that explains why the Sox are playing to congregations of 2500 and 3000.

Is this one for the W. K. book or isn't it... Sometime ago Gene Venzke, the runner, wrote a magazine piece for which he received $4000... The A. A. Condition of Smallwood, 400-Meter Ace, Improved

U. S. OLYMPIC MEN DRILL LIGHTLY

Ventura Boy Stricken By Appendicitis on Way to Germany

By ALAN GOULD

Associated Press Sports Editor
ABOARD S. S. MANHATTAN, ENROUTE TO BERLIN.—The condition of Robert Harold Smallwood, Ventura, Calif., 400-meter star, who was stricken with an attack of appendicitis yesterday at Uncle Sam's athletic argosy started for the Olympic games, was much improved today, Dr. Herbert Lawson announced.

Smallwood's temperature, which earlier in the day was reported at 101.4, and his pulse nearly returned to normal at noon, the chief of the Olympic expedition medical staff said.

Ice pack treatments were suspended to permit Smallwood to take light nourishment. Unless there is a recurrence of the attack, Dr. Lawson informed Head Coach Lawson Robertson that Smallwood probably will be on deck in a few days and able to resume training.

May Not Operate

"There is a 50-50 chance we won't operate on shipboard," said Dr. Herbert Lawson, chief of the Olympic medical staff, commenting on Smallwood's condition. "He has had previous attacks which subsided, but the trouble this time is that he aggravated his condition by exertion two days without getting proper attention."

Smallwood's temperature was 101.4 last night, but his blood count and pulse were satisfactory. He remained optimistic and expressed preference for the comforts of the ship's infirmary contrasting to the close quarters of "D" deck while the doctors consulted over a possible operation.

Marjorie Gestring of Los Angeles, a member of the springboard diving squad, and Ray Kaye of Detroit of the 200 meters breast stroke team, were treated by Dr. Lawson for minor ailments.

Head Coach Lawson Robertson, in outlining the routine aboard ship, banned all running for all foot-racers and ordered mostly light calisthenics.

"After a hard campaign, the racers and hurdlers can afford a let-up to regain weight," Gene Venzke, Glen Hardin and Forrest Towns lost weight in the hot weather competition. Besides shipboard running is risky for the leg muscles," Robertson said.

"The menu is simple, but is being carefully regulated. I am not afraid of the boys eating themselves out of condition the way they did eight years ago."

The hammer throwers and wrestlers lost no time getting into action, appearing on the sundeck shortly after the ship sailed. The grapplers are scheduled for a two-hour workout daily.

The Manhattan was turned into a compact gymnasium and sports field today as the team settled down to a daily routine.

Under the watchful eye of the 50 coaches, managers and officials, most of the 334 men and women athletes donned their training togs—glad of the opportunity to stretch their legs.

Ray Prim Boasts Average of .889

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—With one loss chalked up against eight wins, Ray Prim of Los Angeles remained at the top of Pacific Coast league pitching with an average of .889, figures released today disclosed.

Including games of last Tuesday, records show Prim has struck out 31 batters in nine games as against 43 registered by Bill Ludolph of Oakland in a total of 16 games.

Coast League Has 'More Di Maggios'

Skippers O'Doul And Kamm Groom A Pair For Big Show

Football was "too tough" for Joe Marty (left) so he turned to baseball. Now, with the San Francisco Seals, he's the "toughest" player in the Pacific Coast league. His manager, Frank O'Doul (right), says he's set for the big time.

By RUSS NEWLAND

SAN FRANCISCO. (AP)—To the routine of Pacific Coast league baseball in San Francisco this season has been added a sparkling double "old master-star pupil" act. In teaching roles are Frank (Lefty) O'Doul and Willie Kamm, managers respectively of the San Francisco Seals and Mission clubs, and major league players of another day.

O'Doul, outfielder for the Giants, Dodgers and Phillies variously, and twice batting leader of the National league, has a fly-chasing protege in the person of Joe Marty, centerfielder, who he believes will develop into a sensation comparable with Joe Di Maggio of the New York Yankees.

Kamm, $100,000 San Francisco rookie of more than a decade ago, who went to the White Sox to become the leading third baseman of the American league, is grooming Eddie Joost for the same infield position.

Marty, 22-year-old 6-footer, "arrived" with a bang this season. In the first 10 weeks he clouted for an average well over 400, meanwhile maintaining equally brilliant performances in fielding and tactical departments. He throws and bats right-handed.

Marty joined the Seals two years ago, becoming a regular after the first month of the 1934 season. He hit .275 the first year and .287 in 1935.

"Joost" 20 years old—that's Eddie Joost (left), protege of Manager Willie Kamm (right) of the San Francisco Missions. Kamm is all praise for Joost. And, the manager insists, "I know a third baseman when I see one."

As a teammate of Di Maggio for two years, Marty was in a state of oblivion. The spotlight was focused on the tall, slim Italian youth, now the sensation of the New York Yankees.

Manager O'Doul predicts a great future for Marty. "He has tremendous power in his shoulders, more than Di Maggio," O'Doul says. "Marty is one of the fastest men in the league. His throwing arm isn't as good as Di Maggio's but he is a better base runner and covers more ground in the field. He should be a riot in the big show."

Kamm, the one-time maestro of "hot corner" guardians in the junior major circuit, is making his managerial debut this year, as was his local rival, O'Doul, last season.

His protege, Joost, is a husky youngster just turned 20. "Good legs, big hands, strong throwing arm, batting power and even temperament" is the way Kamm sizes up the youngest third sacker in the Coast league. "Naturally my enthusiasm might be influenced by the fact he is on my club but I think I know a third baseman when I see one."

Joost, a right-hander, hit an even 300 for the first 100 games of the season. He was signed by the Missions at the age of 16 and became a regular about the middle of last year.

CITY LEAGUE NINES PLAY

Knights of Columbus must defeat the in-and-out Carpenters in their 7:30 o'clock tussle at the Municipal bowl tonight to remain in the Santa Ana City league's second-half pennant scramble.

The Commercial National Bank's first-half champions go up against the Latter Day Saints in the second part of the softball double-header at 8 o'clock.

Kenneth Miller, manager of the 1935 champion Elks, has left on a two weeks' vacation to Michigan. Darwin Scott, third baseman, will manage the club in its game with the Mormons Monday night and until Miller returns around Aug. 1.

Many Major Leaguers Nearing End of Trail

By EARL HILLIGAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

CHICAGO.—Some of baseball's most brilliant stars, who for a decade or more have burned brightly and steadily in the major league sky, are fading slowly from the game's firmament this season, passing perhaps forever from the fields of action they so long dominated.

Baseball's ever changing picture may be marked this year, so far as active competition is concerned, by the passing of such luminaries as Mickey Cochrane, Bill Terry, Harold "Pie" Traynor, Frankie Frisch, Charlie Grimm and Jimmy Dykes. Then there are almost a score of others nearing the time when they will hang up their shoes and gloves for good and take their baseball from the cool of the grandstand.

Cochrane Rejoins Club
Cochrane rejoined his Detroit Tigers after resting from nervous trouble. It's unlikely, however, that the fiery pilot ever will regain the form that made him a star with the Philadelphia Athletics and carried the Bengals to two pennants and a world title. Frisch, the "Fordham Flash" of former years, has found in young Stu Martin a second baseman who allowed him to confine his activity to pinch hitting and managing from the bench.

Two stars passed from the major league scene this summer. Alvin Crowder, veteran twirler who won 21 games and lost five to lead the American league in 1928, starred for Washington and then played a big part in winning two flags for Detroit, asked to be placed on the voluntarily retired list. Fred "Fip" Marberry, once considered the finest relief hurler in the game, went from the Giants to Washington and then went to the minors in Texas.

Softball cuties of the Green Cat cafe and the Smith and Corona company, unbeaten after two games, will vie for the second-half championship of the Santa Ana Girls' league at the Municipal bowl next Wednesday.

The survivor will enter the playoffs with the Tiernan Typists, first-half queens, for the 1936 title and the right to enter the Southern California tournament in Los Angeles in September.

The pennant-bent girls breezed to victory before a large crowd last night. The Smith-Coronas, Coach Gordon Mallett's club that has been the "surprise" of the second round, walloped the Tiernan Typists, 17 to 6, and the Green Cats flashed their superiority over the Southern California Telephone company cuties, 16 to 2.

Miss Mary Perkins, who pitched a two-hit game against Tiernan's last week, allowed the "hello

Terry says he's through playing. Back of him is a slugging record, stamping "Memphis Bill" as one of the best hitters of all time. He hit .401 in 1930 to lead the National league and no one has hit the 400 mark since. Jimmy Dykes, "dean" of players in the junior circuit, still can play a great third base but it wouldn't be surprising if this season, his nineteenth, is his last as a player. Traynor, one of the National league's greatest third sackers, has been around 17 seasons and isn't seeing the action he hoped he would last spring.

Two Stars 'Pass'
Grimm relieves his young first baseman, Phil Cavarretta, until he gets his "misery in the back" and then goes to the third base line to coach his Chicago Cubs.

ORANGE CUBS INVADE H. B.

Orange's Cubs and Huntington Beach's Olers will settle their second-place tie in the National Nightball league on the Huntington Beach diamond at 8:15 tonight. Al Bushman is slated to oppose Russ Cogan on the knoll.

The round will be completed tomorrow night, with Westminster coming to Santa Ana, Olive going to Anaheim.

President Walter Wentz of Garden Grove said today he had received no official protest from Manager Joe Rodgers of Huntington Beach over the suspension, and the second half, of Pitcher Louie Neva. Neva, now a member of the San Joaquin Valley league, will be available for the playoffs in September and the "little world series" with the American Nightball league finalist.

ANGELS VACATE FOURTH SPOT

(By the Associated Press)

The Los Angeles invasion of first-division territory was temporarily halted today, thanks to Portland's heavy-hitting lineup and the Angels' own miseries.

The Beavers came from behind yesterday in both games of a double-header to scuttle the San Francisco Seals, 5-4, in 10 innings, and 9-7 in the short period. At Sacramento, the Angels succumbed to the Senators, 6-5, by reason of damaging errors.

Seattle and Oakland remained in first and second positions as the Tribe defeated San Diego, 2-1, and the Acoms trounced the San Francisco Seals, 6-3.

Los Angeles outthit the Solons, but Shortstop Bob Mattick made two costly errors in the second to help Sacramento score three runs. Four bunched hits in the fourth gave the winners three more. Henry Pippin was in hot water from the first inning on, but he managed to finish the game.

COUNTY BALL NINES OPEN 2ND HALF

Capistrano Club Signs Stevens for Contest With Irvine Tonight

Marked by several changes, notably the signing of George Stevens and Ernie Acker by San Juan Capistrano, the reorganization of Placentia, second-half competition will be ushered in by the Orange County Night Ball league tonight.

Ernie Lagier's Irvine club, first-half titlist and favored to repeat, journeys to San Juan Capistrano for its opener. Chet Congdon, manager of the Blue Goose nine, plans to use Stevens, fast-ball right-hander acquired from Santa Ana, and Eddie Myers of San Diego on the mound. Acker, Santa Ana City leaguer, will go into the outfield.

H. O. Easton has made a player-manager out of Bob Jones, who will present a new eligibility list of players to the official umpire just before Placentia's home game with Brea tonight. Brea wants the services of Bill Sweet, Covina's giant first-baseman who was suspended in the American league following a fight in a game at Arlington June 9. Sweet, however, will not be available for the County league until he is cleared by the American.

Anaheim's Red Lions, Pete Lehr's club that started off the season in fiery fashion but lost to Irvine in the home stretch, travels to Huntington Beach to play Paul Bowen's Class B Olers, who will have Urban Peltzer on the ridge.

The second-half schedule:
July 16—Brea at Placentia, Anaheim at Huntington Beach, Irvine at San Juan Capistrano.
July 20—Placentia at Anaheim, Huntington Beach at Irvine, San Juan Capistrano at Brea.
July 23—Anaheim at San Juan Capistrano, Huntington Beach at Placentia, Brea at Irvine.
July 27—San Juan Capistrano at Placentia, Irvine at Anaheim, Brea at Huntington Beach.
July 30—Placentia at Irvine, Anaheim at Brea, Huntington Beach at San Juan Capistrano.
Aug. 3—Placentia at Brea, Huntington Beach at Anaheim, San Juan Capistrano at Irvine.
Aug. 6—Anaheim at Placentia, Irvine at Huntington Beach, Brea at San Juan Capistrano.
Aug. 10—San Juan Capistrano at Anaheim, Placentia at Huntington Beach, Irvine at Brea.
Aug. 13—Placentia at San Juan Capistrano, Anaheim at Irvine, Huntington Beach at Brea.
Aug. 17—Irvine at Placentia, Brea at Anaheim, San Juan Capistrano at Huntington Beach.
No game in Irvine, first half. If playoff is necessary, dates will be set later.

STATISTICS SHOW YANKS ARE PROTECTING LEAD

By SID FEDER
Associated Press Sports Writer

Since the first of the month they've been averaging 10 hits per game—enough to win ball games in most leagues.

They demonstrated that point yesterday by taking the nightcap of the twin bill 7-4 with a 10-hit attack after losing to Schoolboy Rowe 5-1 in the opener.

Jordan Spiked
The National league lead meanwhile was undergoing a stretching, with the Cubs boosting their edge to a full game by downing the Bees 2-0, while the Phillies pushed out a 5-4 win over the second-place Cardinals.

The Bees not only lost the game, but their ace hitter and first sacker, Baxter Jordan, as well. Billy Herman's spikes tore his heel open in the fifth inning.

The Cleveland Indians, boosting their winning streak to five straight with a 6-4 edge over the Athletics, moved into third place in the American league. The Washington Senators, falling before the aroused White Sox, 6-4, sank to fourth.

The Boston Red Sox stayed in the second division, although trouncing the lovely Browns 1-3 and 9-1 in a doubleheader. catch up. But the season ends in September.

Since July 1 when the Yanks' slump was supposed to have started they have played 500 ball—winning six and losing six.

M'CARTER TO FACE NEGRO PUNCHER

Lightweights Top Card Of Four-Round Bout At Highway Arena

The Orange county lightweight championship of boxing will be placed on the fistic block tonight for Raoul Solis, 1934 Golden Gloves champion of California, and Don Benzo, the Anaheim buzz-saw.

Solis, the Santa Ana entry, and Benzo collide in one of the three four-round features of a triple main event, at their battle should produce a world of action and a mythical titleholder hard to beat at the Highway 101 arena.

The Orange light-heavyweight, Bud McCarter, who used to knock em bow-legged and knock-kneed when he was punching his way to the fore three years ago hereabouts, doffs his bathrobe for his second fight in his comeback campaign in one of the other features. Bald-topped, hard-hitting Bud tangles with Henry Moberly, a dusky son of Central avenue, Los Angeles, while Eddie O'Neil, rough, tough and a slugger of ability, known as the Corona cyclone, meets Johnny Wilks in the first star bout.

Winner of the Solis-Benzo fight will be presented a gold belt emblematic of the championship by Promoter Sam Sampson at a later date. It will become the lad's property if he successfully defends it at the county arena three times.

McCarter polished off the heavy-lie Johnny O'Terran, C. Y. O. heavyweight titleholder, in his first start to the post three weeks ago and looked impressive in doing so. He may find Moberly tougher opposition tonight.

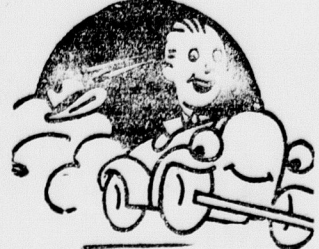

Little Badge Diaz, the Mexican hurricane, who hits like a full-fledged lightweight, although he scales but 116, tackles Stanton's Manuel Chidron in another attractive match. Other bouts show Ray Nobles of La Jolla vs. Baby Buddy, Los Angeles; Jimmy Merced, Placentia, vs. Howard Caldwell, Los Angeles; Barney Reese, Placentia, vs. Willie Brown, Los Angeles, and Willard Wright, Fullerton, vs. Pat Arcy, Los Angeles.

CARDINALS GET EARNSHAW

ST. LOUIS. (AP)—The St. Louis Cardinals management has announced the acquisition of the veteran pitcher, George Earnshaw, from the Brooklyn Dodgers. Earnshaw will report today.

To Brooklyn went Eddie Morgan, rookie outfielder now with Columbus of the American association after a trial with St. Louis early in the season. Morgan will report to Brooklyn at the end of the 1936 season.

Brick Dust

Here and There With The Journal's
Rambling County Editor
By I. N. (BRICK) GAINES

TODAY we're going adventuring into ancient journalism with Jimmy Tarrants, our correspondent from the Tustin area. Jimmy says that while wandering around the other day he heard about an old newspaper at the J. W. Rice home on East Seventeenth street, and so he investigated and found an edition printed on Jan. 4, 1860, and dedicated to General George Washington, who had died that week.

"The paper was printed in Kingston, Ulster county, probably in the state of New York, although the name of the state was not given and thus far I've neglected to look on a map to check on it," Jimmy writes. "The columnar rule had been turned over, making wide black lines between the columns of type, a form of respect shown to dead notables many years ago in newspapers."

"Other than the commemoration of George Washington's death the paper contains nothing of interest to present-day readers, nor for that matter anything that appears to be of great interest to the subscriber of that day," Jimmy continues. "Most of the material seems to be social items and editorials, with one notice to the effect that an apparently angry husband refused to pay any debts contracted by his wife," he adds.

"The paper was printed before the day of headlines, and it's necessary to search for the story of Washington's death, and then read the story very diligently to find out exactly who has passed away," Jimmy says.

He also reports that in the Rice home there are also many other newspapers and clippings saved through the years, including one printed in Princeton, N. J., in 1818. The family also has many copies of early-day papers published in Santa Ana.

"Also, I thought I'd run across something the other day when I found a newspaper, the New England Courant, ostensibly printed in 1732 by Benjamin Franklin and containing an article written by King George III setting forth the things of which a newspaper should consist. I was disappointed, however, to discover that it was merely a replica of Franklin's paper."

Someone sends me a copy of the county's latest newspaper, speaking of publications. I don't get the idea that I'm trying to rank this new sheet with Jimmy's ancient discovery, because this is an up-to-date, newsy little paper, the Silverado Canyon Call, which I expect is published by R. M. Deupree.

I imagine that folks in the canyon appreciate having their own paper and don't think that only one or two folks see it, either. In case you didn't know, there are more than 400 families there in the summertime. Anyway, congratulations to the latest newspaper!

At last I'm in the clear on this Orange swimming pool business. Ever since last summer I've been worrying why they didn't open up the municipal bathtub so kids could get cooled off when the weather's so warm. Now I see, in Stan Wilson's paper, that lack of materials to complete the $20,000 bathhouse is holding up the job. WPA won't come through with what's needed for the job. Or something like that.

Lack of steel lath appears to be the big trouble. No lath, no swimming—that seems to be the motto. But Mayor A. C. Colce isn't discouraged, yet. He probably figures that he who laths last laths best. Or maybe swims best.

Piacentia is to have a new school auditorium. Which is very nice. When that building's finished, they're going to have one of the nicest elementary schools any place in the county. Already they've completed a classroom structure that, to my mind, is one of the nicest looking buildings in the county. Modernistic.

The building program started with the fire that destroyed the main school building three years ago came next October. The night fire that brought every resident of the town who owned a bathhouse to the scene. The school board is to be congratulated for going ahead with such an ambitious program which, due to government aid, is costing taxpayers so little.

Senor Juan Aguilar, ace guide at San Juan Capistrano mission, is out of bed again. For six weeks Johnny was ill, and he says it's nice to be out and around. But he's happiest because he can talk to his goldfish again.

Johnny's known as the best goldfish-caller on the coastline, and he was afraid that his pets would forget his voice if he was away so long, but they came running—I mean swimming—at his first yodel.

But I forgot to ask John about Gwendolyn, the duck. She was the pet of the mission, and I'm wondering now if she's still around, or how she fared someone with a Sunday dinner. She was a little too friendly with strangers to survive long!

LAGUNA BEACH COUNCIL APPROVES 1936-37 CITY BUDGET

$6400 ADDED TO EXPENSE FOR YEAR

Expenditure of $56,679 Authorized; Old Pier To Be Removed

LAGUNA BEACH.—Following a long meeting during which the city council for a period went into executive session, the council early this morning adopted the 1936-37 fiscal year budget, carrying a total of $56,679, as compared to $50,200 for last year.

Dr. K. H. Sutherland, county health officer, who also is acting as city health officer, appeared before the council and asked for cooperation in bringing about a closer enforcement of sanitary regulations at places where food is being prepared and served to customers.

Over the negative vote of Mayor Mallow, the council passed the final reading of an amendment to the city license ordinance, eliminating that portion which required real estate salesmen to take out a city license. The amendment, however, increased the business tax of real estate brokers from $10 to $15 a year.

The council directed the city attorney to draw up an agreement between the city and Bert Forstner, local roofing contractor, for removal of the fishing pier at the foot of Astor street. The latter has offered to do the work for the salvage involved.

The council authorized Councilman Randolph Bainbridge to prepare plans and specifications for construction of a suitable animal shelter, at an estimated cost of about $800. The city council also ratified a revised agreement with the county supervisors for financing and operation of the shelter, to be conducted as a joint city and county dog pound.

A portion of the meeting was devoted to the parking situation, in which connection the advisability of strict enforcement of parking laws was discussed. The police department wanted to know if it had authority to cause the removal by towing of cars parked overtime in limited zones. City Attorney Milburn Harvey thought the city had the necessary police authority to do so, but added it would be bad practice.

ORANGE GIRLS TEAM FORMED.—Orange Lions will sponsor a girl's night baseball team, it was decided at Wednesday's meeting of the club. The team will be called the "Orange Lionettes" and will wear orange uniforms, and Alvin (Whitey) Edwards, assistant coach of baseball at Whittier college, will be the manager.

The team will play twice a week at the Orange city park, and will also play at Los Angeles. Carl Schroeder is head of the Lions club committee.

A game will be played Friday night with the men's team of the Holly Sugar company, which will be the feature of the event. Places on the permanent team. Players are Betty Bergen, Elsie Kokk, Wilma Potter, Mary Mae Wilson, Nancy Wallace, Gertrude Amling, Esther Meyer, Edith Luhrs, Roberta Howell, Della Shepherd, Helen Harper, Velma Kuechel and Marie Fitchner.

Cal Lester was program chairman Wednesday, and introduced Miss Susie M. Rutherford, Balboa, who showed moving pictures taken on a trip to Japan and China.

G. G. CLUB HAS PARK MEETING.—The G. G. Club had its monthly meeting at the park, and discussed the building of a new clubhouse. The club is planning to build a new clubhouse on the site of the old one, which was destroyed by fire.

Shower Honors Bernice Vestal.—Miss Bernice Vestal entertained at her home Tuesday evening with a miscellaneous shower honoring Miss Dorothy Bartley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Bartley, El Modena. Miss Bartley will be married Friday to Marvin E. C. Wagner, Orange.

Guests were Lena May Willis, Santa Ana; Isabel Saracusa, Huntington Beach; Mrs. Esther Elliste, Mrs. Ed Allen, Mrs. Earl Stone, Miss Mary Daum, Mrs. Victor Rainey, Mrs. Horace Inge, Mrs. George Wheeler, Mrs. Florine Moreland and Miss Beth King, Texas, who is in Orange for the wedding Friday.

SEEK BENCHES BEACH CLUB TO GET CHARTER.—LAGUNA BEACH.—Recommendations that ordinances now in force be amended so as to permit placing of benches on the sidewalk for the convenience of shoppers and visitors seeking a place to rest, were adopted at the regular chamber of commerce board meeting Tuesday night. Capt. George A. Portus, presiding.

Action of the chamber directors followed a report that the city authorities had caused all benches, property of private parties, to be removed from the sidewalks. In response to their recommendation, however, the directors made it plain they are opposed to advertising being placed on the benches.

Resignation of Robert G. Lindley, automobile dealer, as director, was accepted. Mr. Lindley has moved to Huntington Beach, it was reported. The matter of electing a successor was deferred until the next regular meeting.

R. C. Fisher, chairman of a special committee, reported that an attempt to organize a Laguna Beach branch of the Santa Ana Business Men's association has been dropped.

TWO WILDCAT WELLS HOLD INTEREST

HUNTINGTON BEACH.—Interest of oil men in the Huntington Beach district centered on two wildcat projects today. One of them, classified as a semi-wildcat, is the Petroleum Corporation's No. 1 well near the Five Points, a mile and one-half northeast of the old Huntington Beach field. The company has been coring in oil sand for some time. Bottom of the well is reported to be at 4300 feet.

Farther out on Huntington Beach boulevard oil men are keeping an eye on the Western Drilling Company's wildcat well. Located at the corner of Huntington Beach boulevard and Smelter road the wildcat well was drilled to 3300 feet some time ago and then work was halted to allow the company to conduct careful tests on a new deep test well in the Dominguez district. The Dominguez well is said to be down better than 6400 feet, almost a record for Southern California fields.

Indications that work will be resumed on the project here were given a short time ago when the company secured changes in leases from prospect owners in the district. In return for the concessions granted the company has agreed to drill the well down to the 9000 foot level, according to reports.

The Shell Oil company wildcat near the Laguna Beach water wells at the corner of Bushard road, three miles east of Huntington Beach, was drilling ahead slowly and carefully today at the 2500 foot level. The well drilling equipment is of the heaviest type and the company plans to sink the hole to 9000 feet or better, it is claimed.

COMPLETE SWIM MEET PLANS

NEWPORT BEACH.—Amateur swimming stars of Southern California will gather in Newport Harbor Aug. 29 for the second annual Newport harbor junior swimming meet, it was announced today. The meet will be held in the channel north of Balboa island and is expected to draw a list of many of the best known amateur swimming stars in the Southland. Plans for the meet were divulged today by Kenneth Baum, recently named chairman of a chamber of commerce committee in charge of the event.

The swim meet was staged last year as the Southern California junior swimming meet and met with a great deal of success. Youngsters from tiny tots up to 18 years of age will be eligible to compete in the affair. Several events will be restricted to Orange county swimmers but the majority of events will be open to all amateur swimmers, Baum announced.

Ray Loomis, former Washington rowing crew member and All-American football player; Dick Blocker, well-known athlete and Sid Foster, athletic director of the Manual Arts school in Los Angeles are assisting Baum with arrangements for the meet.

The affair is being staged under direction of the Newport Harbor chamber of commerce. The fact that many more people are enjoying bay swimming since the completion of dredging operations has been a factor in the plan, officials declared.

Storm Drain to Control Water Near English And Seventeenth

Designed to stop the winter flooding of Seventeenth and English streets, construction work on the West Seventeenth street storm drain, a WPA project, is under way today.

Under the county's portion of the project, sponsored jointly by county and city, crews are excavating a portion of the river levee and cutting a ditch into a pipe of poured concrete box construction will be placed.

After the county portion has been constructed to within the city limits, a city crew will continue to within a quarter mile of Bristol street. The top of the storm drain will form the paved gutter of Seventeenth street, and will be fitted with grates to drop storm waters from the pavement.

Estimated to cost $50,000, the drain will be built with approximately $5000 city funds, $5000 county funds, and $40,000 federal funds.

In previous years water has collected at Seventeenth and English streets, then drained down the latter to flood homes around Eighth street.

WASHINGTON, (AP)—The American Federation of Labor's executive council decided yesterday to summon the 12 unions affiliated with John L. Lewis' committee for industrial organization to a formal trial here August 3 on "insurrection" charges.

Karl Baker Held On Theft Count

"The United States National Gas and Oil Leasing company of Los Angeles" didn't turn out so well, and T. M. Gilmore, 311 McFadden street, wants something done about it.

So he alleges, in a petty theft complaint against Karl G. Baker, 30, arrested by sheriff's officers last night. Baker will face trial in justice court July 28.

Gilmore told officers he bought an oil lease from Baker, paying $17.50 cash and two $10 payments toward a total of $67.50. He charges Baker had no title to oil land.

LA GOLODRINA (The Swallow)
It was a miracle because in awe, I failed to understand the thing I saw.

The swallows returned on St. Joseph's day.
Wild whirring of wings preceded the fray.

Each sparrow took flight,
When battle was pressed.
Each swallow reclaimed
His bottle-shaped nest.

"They always come back,"
An old Indian said,
"From over the sea,
"Where Jesus Christ died."

Even on leap year they honor his day!
Why the precision, no expert can say.

Note: Always on St. Joseph's day the swallows return from the south, March 19. Always on St. John's day they leave the mission, Oct. 23.

FRANK KNOX: Republican 'No. 2 Man'

Believer in the energetic life, Colonel Knox keeps himself fit by engaging in a variety of outdoor sports. He and an old crony, John Muehling, associated with him in the publishing business, are shown ready for a round of golf in Manchester, N. H. (Right) the vice presidential nominee and Mrs. Knox spend a quiet hour together in their library.

Vigor of Nominee Is Indication of His Stiff Campaign

By AURELIUS KINSEY (Last in a Series)

CHICAGO, (AP)—Essentially an outdoor man, Frank Knox is the vigorous type whose very hobbies promise a vigorous campaign.

"The hurricane deck of a bronco," says this ex-rough rider, is his favorite vacation spot.

As a mountain climber he has driven his own pack trains over ranges of half a dozen western states and in New England.

He can sail a boat, run a launch, ski, skate, toboggan, swim—and likes them all. He devotes most of his play hours, however, to riding and golf.

In clothes his taste at 62 is conservative. His reading interests range over a wide field, he says, with economics as applied to present day problems first choice just now.

Wife Proud of Career
Like his running mate Governor Landon, Colonel Knox smokes a pipe—almost incessantly. They are scattered everywhere in his home and office.

In Chicago he maintains a "back-of-the-house" apartment. Too frail for the city's climate and smoke, Mrs. Knox lives in their Manchester, N. H., home. He visits her at frequent intervals, and she has accompanied him on several of his campaign tours. She was with him at Cleveland.

She confides she is a bit jealous of her husband's publishing career that keeps him in the city so much. But she's proud of his record, too, and intensely interested in his career.

Although childless, Knox is delighted by associations with young people, intimates say. As publisher at Sault Ste. Marie early in his newspaper rise, he started a gymnasium and club for newsmen and added free tickets to circuses and boat rides.

In Manchester he helped start a boys' club and enjoyed being made confident of his lads. On some days associates of the period recall, the office was overrun with youngsters who wanted to talk to "the boss."

Colonel Knox is a Congregationalist, Unitarian and Mason.

His Philosophy of Life
From one of his own editorials comes this summary of Knox's philosophy of life:

"The most useful life is the best; the most unpretentious and genuine, the most worthy. Let us aim to be genuine, to seek simplicity and be unassuming, unostentatious, to keep our hearts tender and pure and our minds on the higher levels."

But from his one-time political enemies comes the description of the man his friends like best: "Frank Knox is a delightful personality who charged up San Juan hill with Roosevelt and is persisting in making the remainder of his life one continuous charge up that same hill."

That bit of 1912 Old Guard Republican railery has been adopted by Knox supporters as "a remarkably accurate one-sentence summary of Knox as a citizen, editor and politician."

WASHINGTON, (AP)—The office of Senator Joseph G. O'Mahoney, Wyoming Democrat, announced his acceptance of an invitation to address the State Federation of Democratic Women's Study Clubs of California at San Francisco July 23.

CLEVELAND, (AP)—Topics of talk of the Townsend national convention: A large banner over the platform at public auditorium read: "God said: 'I am tired of over lords and poverty, my people shall be free.'"

Other signs scattered about the hall: "Keep on keeping on." "The Townsend goal: Training for youth; work for maturity and security for age."

Asks $5000 for Shortened Arm

Charging that injuries to her left arm, sustained in an automobile accident on July 17, 1935, caused permanent shortening, Olive Butler, Anaheim, started suit yesterday against Fred H. Speich and his parents, Susie J. and Verne Speich, in superior court.

She asks $5000 general damages and $250 special damages as a result of a fractured left humerus, incurred when the car in which she was riding, driven by G. W. Hime, collided with the Speich car on Olive road, a mile below Olive.

Device Would Eliminate Dried Fruit Without Human Aid

Granulation is beginning to appear in Orange county Valencia oranges. There is no known cure for it—but Agricultural Commissioner D. W. Tubbs has pioneered in developing a fluoroscopic method of detecting and segregating granulated fruit, it became known today.

It happened this way: In 1934 Tubbs came across badly granulated fruit. He remarked there should be some way of detecting granulation without using a knife. Next day he had an idea. He took some fruit to a local shoe store where an x-ray machine was used for examining feet.

Idea Developed
He subjected the fruit to the test and the machine revealed the granulation condition immediately.

Tubbs submitted the idea to Paul S. Armstrong, general manager of the California Fruit Growers exchange, and today news came from Armstrong that tests are being made at Chicago on a new fluoroscopic method of segregating granulated and frozen fruit. Tubbs' idea is being developed.

He said today he believed an apparatus can be produced to be 100 per cent efficient, which will automatically "kick out" granulated or frozen fruit on the granular.

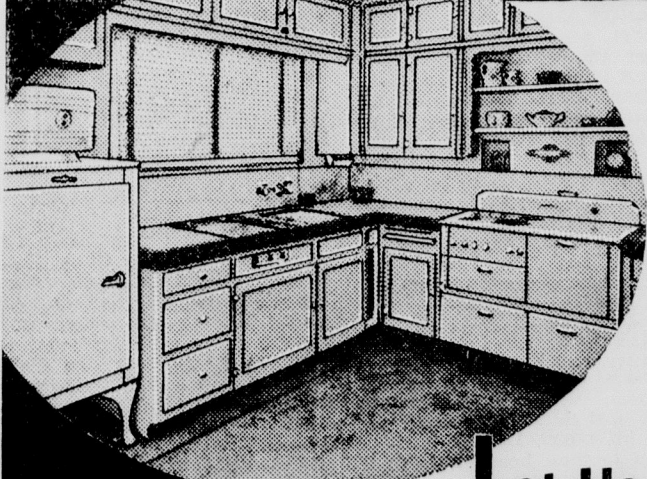

Whitewash Used
In the last two days, said Tubbs, granulation has begun to appear noticeably in Valencia.

Dr. L. D. Baichler said today six years of experimenting at the Riverside citrus experiment station have failed to find a cure for granulation, or drying out of oranges and lemons. He said the best leads developed so far are bud selection, changing the chemical content of dry fruit, low winter temperatures and irrigation improvements.

A plain whitewash applied to trees in May was said to have reduced granulation 50 per cent, although the scientific reason for this result is not known.

Scavenger Hunt Leads Sigma Thetas on a Merry Chase Throughout the Town

Supper Is Evening Climax

Virginia Curry and Barbara Davis Are Hostesses

To a pair of spats, add a pitchfork, a last year's automobile license, an old inner tube, one live animal, an empty tomato soup can, 12 burned matches, the signature of a person whose initials are "J. J." and a pint of rainwater, and what do you have?

Glady's Marguerat and Mrs. Charles Bain, Jr., put them all together and found that they had a box of candy apiece . . . for they were the winners in the scavenger hunt in which members of Sigma Theta sorority participated last night in the social evening arranged by Miss Virginia Curry and Miss Barbara Davis.

At the conclusion of the merry search, and after the winners had received their rewards, the group gathered at the Curry home at 1008 North Olive street for a delicious buffet supper served with pink and blue appointments. An ice cream cake was a delightful feature of the course.

Pouring at the pretty table were Miss Katherine Harbert and Miss Marguerat.

A guest of the evening, in addition to the chapter members and pledges, was Miss Demaris Peak of San Francisco, who has been a house guest of Miss Davis for several days, returning home this morning.

Sorority members participating in the fun were the Misses Ruth Baker, Dorothy Preble, Ruth Owens, Betty Wiswall, Katherine Harbert, Charlene Lowell and Gladys Marguerat, Mrs. Bain and the two hostesses, Miss Davis and Miss Curry; and the two pledges, Miss Priscilla Carroll of South Pasadena and Miss Margaret Thomas of Santa Ana, were also present.

Next Wednesday night, the members have planned a dancing party at the Palomar in Los Angeles, continuing the series of informal parties which feature their summer season.

C. Watkins of 1502 North Ross street, who spend their summers at their Coast Royal cottage; and several guests from Los Angeles, among them Mr. McNeil and his mother.

Reception Honors Bride

Japanese lanterns were strung through the yard and across the front porch of the Lyman S. Gittins home at 1549 Willits street last night for the gala wedding reception at which Mrs. Gittins entertained in honor of her niece, Mrs. Alva Claiborne of Pomona, a bride of two weeks.

Mrs. Claiborne, who was formerly Miss Marjorie Lee, and a former resident of this city, was married late in June in a quiet wedding ceremony in Pomona. She wore her wedding dress, a smart spring suit of pale yellow with blue accessories, last night to receive the many guests who gathered to wish her well. In the receiving line with her were her aunt, Mrs. Gittins, who wore a blue silk dress, and her mother, Mrs. J. R. Lee of Pomona, in a flowered silk. All had lovely corsages of mixed flowers.

The table from which a delicious buffet supper was served late in the evening was set out in the garden and spread with a lace cloth. In the center was a beautiful three-tiered white wedding cake topped with a miniature bride and groom, tall tapers in crystal holders flanking this on either side. All appointments were in white, crystal and silver, carrying out the bridal motif.

Presiding at the tea and coffee urns were Mrs. W. R. Lee, of Torrance, aunt of the bride, and the bride's mother, and Miss Ruth Dunn of Maywood and Mrs. Frank Sherman of Santa Ana. The latter is daughter of the hostess, assisted in service.

Ice cream molds served as the dessert with the supper collation were centered with little wedding bells.

In the house, the many gifts brought to the bride and groom were arranged for display on attractive stands, and masses of garden flowers added color to the rooms.

Mrs. Claiborne is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Lee of Pomona, who resided for many years in Santa Ana. Marjorie spending her early childhood here. She is a graduate of Pomona High school, and attended Pomona Junior college. During the past year, she has been teaching art in the schools of that city.

FETED BEFORE DEPARTURE FOR CONVENTION

Mr. and Mrs. Rolla R. Hays, Jr., of 2420 Santiago street, who expect to leave with the Santa Ana delegation to the Lions' convention in Providence, R. I., have interesting plans for side trips and a tour following the close of the sessions, and have been entertained by friends during the past week prior to their departure.

On their way east, they plan a one-night stop with relatives in Omaha, Neb., and a stay of several days at Niagara Falls.

Following the convention, they will go to Boston for two days, then to New York City before departing home by rail. Their trip will fill the past week vacation.

Among courtesies extended to them before they leave have been several dinners with friends. On Tuesday evening, Mr. and Mrs. Franklin G. West, 321 East Santa Clara street, entertained them in their home; and on Wednesday Mr. and Mrs. Edward M. Hall of 1901 Heliotra street, honored them with a dinner at the Pacific Coast club in Long Beach, with the Franklin Wests of Santa Ana and Mrs. Kenneth Beers of Miami, Fla., as additional guests. Alarm Clock Treasure Clue

Mrs. H. G. Huffman of 2340 Riverside Drive honored her niece, Miss Genevieve McFarren, Wednesday afternoon with a miscellaneous shower and luncheon at her home, serving luncheon at one long table set out in the garden.

Centering the table was a long, narrow green basket filled with pink and orchid asters; and large shade trees and a fountain flowing into garden pool made a cool background for the party.

Those gathered around the luncheon table were all relatives of the bride-to-be, and included her grandmother, Mrs. F. A. McFarren, and the latter's five daughters, Mrs. George Crawford and Mrs. Cluey of Long Beach, Mrs. William Maddox Clegg of Huntington Beach; Mrs. Huffman and Mrs. Luther Ray of Santa Ana.

Mrs. W. C. McFarren, mother of the honored guest, and Mrs. N. D. McFarren, daughters-in-law of Mrs. F. A. McFarren; Miss Lenore McFarren, sister of the bride-to-be; and four younger relatives, Betty Jean Cluey, Patricia Louise McFarren, and Mrs. Huffman's two small daughters, who represented the third generation at the party.

An old friend of the family, Mrs. Charles Hohn, sent all the flowers used in decorating the living room.

A gift from an absent relative was an alarm clock set for two o'clock, at which time the honored guest was sent to answer the telephone.

Finally locating the bell, she found also a shower of beautiful gifts, the opening of which made up an enjoyable hour.

Mrs. Huffman then provided bright, gold-colored tea towels and each guest, even the younger ones, worked her own initial into the corner of one. Another gift prepared to Miss McFarren was a loose leaf recipe book, each guest writing a favorite recipe on its pages.

Miss McFarren is to be married July 26 to John McNeil of this city, and her approaching nuptials have formed the incentive for a number of delightful affairs.

PAULINE WELLS RETURNS HOME FROM THE EAST

Concluding a delightful after-graduation trip in the east, on which she accompanied her father, George Wells of 2020 Victoria Drive, Miss Pauline Wells returned home Monday by train from Chicago, and Mr. Wells will come the end of the week by automobile.

The two left soon after Miss Wells' graduation in June from Stanford university, going directly to Washington, D. C., where Mr. Wells attended the Kiwanis International convocation.

From the capital, they went up into Connecticut for a visit with relatives, then up to Montreal, back to Long Island, where they visited other members of their family, and then to New York City, their headquarters for a short time.

On the way back to Chicago, where they separated for the homeward trip, they stopped at Niagara Falls and Detroit.

Just before her graduation, Miss Wells revealed to her college friends her betrothal to Douglas Ferrey of Los Angeles, son of Dr. Ferrey of that city, telling the news at a breakfast complementing senior residents of Laguna Court, where she lived during her last two years on the campus.

No date has been set for the wedding, which was announced for some time late this summer.

NIECE VISITS MRS. HAWKINSON

Miss Norma Lowmy, Miss Berdene McDowell and Miss Luella Able of Elkhart, Ind., who are on a tour of the west this summer, spent a few days this week with Miss Lowmy's aunt, Mrs. F. D. Hawkinson, 412 West Second street.

Coming out by way of St. Louis, Mo., and Denver, Colo., the girls have enjoyed visits to Pike's Peak and the San Diego exposition, and are now in Los Angeles for a week or ten days.

Before they start home, over the northern route, Miss Lowmy will return to Santa Ana for another short visit with Mrs. Hawkinson, and then join her companions for the trip to San Francisco, Oregon, Washington, Vancouver, and thence home.

Mary Stoddard Home Where Love Has Fled Is Harmful Influence on Child, Distorts Viewpoint

When love has fled should parents still continue to live under the same roof for the sake of their children? This is a much-debated question. Even judges differ in their decisions handed down. Perhaps this is because each case is more or less individual. Recently a woman who signed herself "One of the Children" wrote, taking the viewpoint that "divorce" has wrecked many a child's life. Today another "child of divorce," now grown, takes the opposite viewpoint.

Dear Miss Stoddard: Divorce set the stage for my childhood, consequently since I've grown up I've studied the various cases I've heard and known.

When a married couple reach that stage whence they can no longer meet on the common ground of mutual love and loyalty and understanding, children or none, nothing in God's world can make a happy home with them together in it.

The home is but a shell at best. The children with their immature minds respond poorly to such an environment. They are directly or indirectly unhappy during childhood—and often positively bitter when they become old enough to realize that two people have lived together without love, ruining two (or more) lives simply "because of the children."

My parents seem to have found the true solution. They divorced when I was a tiny youngster, decided to let me and avoid the opportunity to visit me and avoid the horrible jealousy that might exist when one or the other to keep me.

Both mother and daddy were treated the same during their visits. To this day, many of my friends don't know which parent is blood relation to my aunt.

Never in my life have I heard anything said against either parent by the other. Of course they avoided meeting. To do otherwise would have been folly—it would have undermined the unspoken but positive knowledge I had that their reason for divorce was an irrevocably serious thing that left no other solution.

This feeling must be conveyed to a child, else there is danger of the heart-breaking request that mother and daddy go back together.

I saw both very often. Holidays were evenly divided. I loved them (and still do) equally.

While the love I bear for my aunt and uncle is different from that for my parents, it is not less real. There never was and never will be reason to make a choice between them.

I am and have been, for four years, happily married. Despite the conviction of some narrow-minded people that (at the time of my marriage) my vows would be lightly taken simply because my parents were divorced, such is not the case.

Mother and daddy are both respectable mates. I like to visit both.

STORE STAFF HAS DINNER AT BALBOA
Employees of Stein's stationery store and their families and friends went to Balboa last night for their annual picnic.

With the cooperation of Ivie Stein, proprietor and manager, a pleasant evening of games, swimming, and dancing had been planned.

The group assembled in the attractive open-air pavilion of Edgewater cafe on the bay front, where a Dutch supper was served, places held for twenty-six members of the store force and guests.

Those enjoying the evening were Mr. Stein, Mr. and Mrs. Cress, Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Walden, Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Sparks and Mrs. Edward, Mr. and Mrs. Gowin, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Adams, Mr. and Mrs. Joe May, Miss Urcel Caulfield, Norman Cress, Virgil Pyatt and niece, Miss Elsie Pyatt, all of Santa Ana.

From Los Angeles came Mrs. Celia Stein and son, Arthur, and daughter, Helen Stein Swartz, and Mr. Swartz, of Los Angeles, former residents of Santa Ana bringing with them several other guests.

Inlanders Flock To Newport

Hot summer days take on a cooler guise down on the decks of Newport Harbor Yacht club, where many Santa Anans are to be found these sunny afternoons and balmy evenings, mingling with club members and friends from the towns farther inland.

Among latest arrivals at the club are Mrs. William Noller and her daughter, Houston, student at Holton Arms, who came out recently from their home in Washington, D. C. They are dividing their time between the bay and the home of Mrs. Noller's brother-in-law and sister, Dr. and Mrs. Hugh Berkley, in Los Angeles.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Isham of Los Angeles spent the weekend at Newport aboard their schooner, Weton.

Frank W. Brumley of Janelville, Fla., W. P. Rasmussen of Ithaca, N. Y., and N. Fogelberg of Washington, D. C., all federal government agents here to study the citrus strike situation, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. S. B. Marshall at the Newport club over the weekend. The Marshalls were joined there also by their four sons, William of Stanford, Frank, Barney and Norman, Frank winning the snowbird races Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Gail Borden of Chicago were entertained at the club over the weekend end by Mr. and Mrs. Harry J. Bauer.

VISIT CATALINA

Miss Anabelle Baird of Santa Ana spent Monday at Catalina island in company with her aunt, Mrs. Neal C. Roney, and the latter's daughter, Miss Diane Roney, and Mrs. Milburn G. Harvey and daughter, Ann, all of Laguna Beach.

homes and so does my husband. I am thankful that I don't have to look at the broken empty lives of those two I love so well and know that such is the case because it "wasn't fair to the children" to divorce.

I had a real home, which was more than I'd had with those two misnamed people trying to live together because of me. People do no justice to their children's respect of the rights of others when they decide to "stick it out" because of the children. A child soon grows up, leaves home, marries. What then is left for a couple who have committed the sin of living together as man and wife without love?

Before a divorce is decided upon there must be much thought and consideration and it must be a known fact in their roads to happiness go different directions.

When a couple live together more or less because of the children this forces the children to "take sides" or openly or secretly dwell upon the short comings of their parents.

Sincerely,
"ANOTHER OF THE CHILDREN"

KVOE OFFERS TREASURE LEGEND

Historical Program Will Tell of Gold Buried at Trabuco

Did you know there is buried treasure in Orange County? We don't mean petroleum or the natural richness of the soil, but actual buried treasure of the kind pirates hid away, of pieces of eight and all that. The legend of the buried treasure at Trabuco and the old adobe house will be told in this evening's historical broadcast to be made by members of the Federal Historical Research project under the auspices of the Santa Ana schools from KVOE at 5:30.

It is a true story but with so many weird and odd angles that it seems like fiction. In the absence of W. W. Wieman, who is in charge of these Thursday evening broadcasts, Mrs. Gladys Ashby, superintendent of the project, will conduct the group which includes Mrs. Marion Minor, Miss Lulu Walker and Welcome Mayhew.

Donald Novis will be featured again with the music of Morton Gould and his orchestra in "Your Country Club," the new feature on KVOE to be heard tomorrow afternoon at 12:30. He will sing "All My Love," "I'm in the Mood for Love," "Always" and "Love Is a Dancing Thing."

A country lad from Missouri came into KVOE's offices the other day and announced that he wanted to "go on the radio." Program officials hear this request numerous times daily and promptly turn them down for reasons that are obvious to everyone with the possible exception, sometimes, of the applicant.

However, this Missouri lad, whose name is Ken Major, was so enthusiastic and so earnest in his declaration that he could out-do Chandu and out-win Ed Wynne, that program officials relented.

Incidentally, it was stated that they were greatly relieved to get him out of the office, even to the point of considering a promise of a 15-minute spot for the lad and a probable elimination of his overworked enthusiasm which had been carried out to the nth degree. Some apprehension will attend the first broadcast of Ken Major from KVOE to be made tomorrow evening at 6 o'clock, as several people will be "on the spot."

The "Negro Melody Singers" will be heard in another WPA music project program tonight at 8:15 when they will sing "Go Down, O Sun," "Didn't My Lord Deliver Daniel," "Swing Along," "We're in the Water" and other characteristic songs arranged and conducted by Juanita Hall.

THORN in the FLESH

By GLENN L. THORNE

About every third speech we hear deals with taxes, though we don't give the question much serious thought because most taxes are so "painless" we do not realize we are paying them. However, authorities estimate that over 30 cents out of every dollar we earn goes into the slot marked "taxes."

In case you are curious to know just how much you contribute to the political machine tree every month, make sure you have some headache tablets before you start to figure it out.

And here's another problem: A large national business concern reports they have experienced an increase in business of 8.5 per cent in the last three years. Which sounds good until we read that its taxes have jumped 105 per cent during the same period.

So, the problem is: "When is a profit not a profit—or, are taxes a dividend of profit and loss?"

Coiffure In Tune With Season

By JACQUELINE HUNT

Coiffures for summer are pretty and youthful. Summer with its gay informal clothes calls for coiffures that are in harmony. The soft waves and curls that we see on every side can make you look like an exceptionally preppy lady at night or when combed out and pushed back with a nonchalant gesture, a still-pretty but gamish school girl.

It is fun to look pretty and feminine even when you wear a tennis frock or riding outfit. And it is really less trouble than trying to keep a smart boyish haircut looking smart.

Now one permanent that leaves your hair with a soft, natural-looking wave and ringlet ends that you can arrange to suit yourself will keep you looking pretty the whole summer. Sometimes there are no waves at all—just big, soft, child-like ringlets brushed back off the forehead and into clusters at each temple or behind your ears.

When the profile is good, the tendency is to leave the hair unwaved and straight in the back. The sides may be softly waved and finished with a topknot of curls, while the ends in the back are turned upward at the neckline in a single roll and pinned in place with fancy clips or invisible pins.

Easy Foods For Summer

By JUDITH WILSON

The real secret of hospitality is not to make hard work of it. During the summer, friends are apt to drop in at any moment, so you should keep on hand a good supply of delicious foods that will help keep you out of the kitchen as much as possible.

This little pie is especially good hot or cold:

Ham and Veal Pie

Make a pastry by first melting 6 tablespoons shortening in ¼ cup hot butter. Add to 2 cups sifted flour with ¼ teaspoon salt and stir until cool enough to handle. Knead until smooth, cover and set in a warm place while you prepare your filling. Knead the pastry again and roll out ¼ inch thick. Line ½ individual baking dishes with the pastry and moisten the edges. Add the filling. Make the top pastry with little cut-out patterns and press the edges firmly together.

Filling: Combine 1½ cups each diced cooked veal and ham and 2 hard-cooked eggs. Season with salt (very little) and a small amount of minced parsley. Divide into the small pastry-lined dishes. Sprinkle ¼ tablespoon gelatin on 1 tablespoon cold water and when softened add 1 cup hot bouillon or meat broth. Pour half of the liquid into the little pies, cover with the top pastry and bake in a slow oven for 2 hours. Remove from the oven, and using a small funnel, pour in the remaining bouillon through the small openings in the crust. When cold, the filling is suspended in a tender, delicately flavored jelly.

MURDER TONIGHT

BY LAURENCE W. MEYNELL

SYNOPSIS
The news that old Arthur Burdett, Hope Enderton's miser, has been murdered takes Dr. Chambers away from the Reeves' dinner party—but not before he has observed a curious glance between the Reeveses. No tears will be wasted on old Burdett, who has administered his great power very badly, and who has also some unfortunate ways with the ladies. Nevertheless, the murder touches a great many people in some very tender places.

Chapter Six
QUANT DETECTIVE
"Will you be staying long, sir?" Edward Perry asked. His guest who had just signed the visitors' book in a firm and microscopically neat hand said, "I hardly know Mr."

"Perry, sir."
"Mr. Perry. Three or four days anyway—possibly longer. Have you got any claret in the cellar?"

"There are a few bottles, sir, though we don't get much call for it here; wine drinking has gone out practically as you may say."

"A pity. Vinum cor hominum laetificat—but perhaps Bible reading has gone out as well."

Perry grinned. "Not so much of it as there used to be, sir," he said. "It's more pictures than prayers nowadays in a manner of speaking."

"Do you play chess, Mr. Perry?" his guest suddenly asked.

"Chess, sir? I don't know as I do; but Mr. White, the policeman, he's a great hand at it, he's your man if you want a game of chess any time."

The tall man smiled. "Very fortunate. I was just going to ask you the way to his house. I'm down from Scotland Yard to investigate this murder at Enderton Court—of course, you knew that didn't you?"

"Well, sir, I—"
"And my name's Kingsley Hylton, you know that too, didn't you?"

"I won't say I—"
"And I'm slightly mad like all great detectives."

Perry grinned uncertainly. "But not mad enough to do without food, so bacon and eggs is the morning order and hot coffee at 11 o'clock sharp, and don't forget to look out that claret."

Edward Perry was definitely impressed. He picked up the visitors' book and studied the tiny writing, as neat as six point print. "Kingsley Hylton, London."

Then, putting the book down, he called to mind the prematurely bald head, the thick glasses, the thin lips, the disconcertingly quick eyes and the long restless hands.

"Well, 'e's a character and no mistake" was the landlord's comment as he hurried to the bar with this latest and most detectable addition to the positive orgy of speculation and discussion set up by the Enderton Court affair.

For curiosity (and also partly because he had a strong mathematical kink in his mind) Kingsley Hylton counted his steps from the turning of the Morechester road to the police cottage. His long thin legs took an easy 35 inch stride. He found that the five hundredth step brought him almost exactly to the wicket gate, which he considered to be an endorsement of the innkeeper's "about a quarter of a mile."

The night was dry and dark, too dark indeed for him to be certain of his destination had not a neat little blue lamp with police showing whitely from it been there to reassure him.

He walked up two or three yards of well kept path and knocked precisely on the door. It was opened by a broad-shouldered man in police sergeant's uniform. The stiff collar of his jacket was

Diet For Intestinal Troubles

By C. N. CHRISMAN, M. D.

We have talked at length about acute intestinal troubles of the young child. A chronic form of this condition which develops between the ages of one and five is all too common.

Nursing infants and those who have done well through their first months with artificial feeding may, when the change is made to solid food, be unable to digest it or may soon become unable to digest even cow's milk in any form.

This may be the result of beginning solid food too early or in too large quantities. A child cannot digest starches like cereals and potatoes until it has acquired several teeth.

The picture of the disease is quite uniform. The patients are generally very thin, with small, large quantities, and very little fat under the skin, and a very large, tense dilated abdomen.

These children are pale, haggard, with a sallow complexion and dark rings under the eyes. The stools consist of cross and irritable and prone to tantrums. They are undersized, and if the trouble persists their growth is stunted, although the mind is alert. Their sleep is disturbed, they roll and toss and cry out and grind their teeth.

The feeding of these cases is one of continuous experiment. They cannot digest sweet milk in any form; starches, sugars and fats are not well handled. The diet must consist of buttermilk, or better, protein milk, rare beef broth, sour milk and eggs, but always in small quantity till tolerance is established.

A small amount of banana is about the only vegetable substitute at first. Orange juice is well borne. As the condition improves,

Vacation Boom Ahead

AMERICA'S greatest recreation boom is scheduled to come in the next 10 weeks, according to Roger W. Babson. The noted statistician says that Pleasure Preferred will reach an all-time high.

Orange county will get its share of the visitors who lay down care aside and take the vacation trail by train, auto, boat and plane.

There are reasons for this unprecedented boom. National income has increased since 1932 from 39½ to 59½ billions. People have more money to spend. And they've also learned better how to play. They picked that up during the enforced leisure of the depression.

We can't believe—along with some of our 1936 Puritans—that this vacation boom is harmful or that it is frivolous and wasteful. It will give work to many of those 10,000,000 unemployed who still haunt our nation. It will stimulate culture and development of leisure time for art, music, athletics, better homes—and the embellishments of civilization that our pioneer forbears had to pass up.

The coming vacation boom is a healthy sign for civilization and humanity.

Hearst's Examiner is asking readers if they think Ruth Bryan Owen should resign her Danish diplomatic post because she married that Danish captain. That's a neat question from Willie. His concern about marriage has always been so touching.

Principle Above Party

THIS acid criticism of Henry Breckenridge and Al Smith—a pair of lifelong, oldline Democrats who bolted the New Deal—seems to us callow and unfair.

Breckenridge and Smith simply put their principles above their party. Anybody who does otherwise is either immoral or prejudiced or perhaps just plain dumb.

It takes a lot of spine for a leader to walk out on a political party these days. Many men take politics 10 times more seriously than they take religion. And the saddening thing about it is that active participation in modern politics will never wait anyone to Heaven.

There's no crime in changing party. After it's just a duty that a man owes to himself, even though he knows he will be hated by those whom he left and will not be heartily esteemed by those he comes over to.

We think a damnsite more of Breckenridge and Smith than we do of those so-called loyal Democrats, who have no sympathy for the New Deal program, but who are hanging on just for the sake of the political pie they can scoop up.

Dispatch from Washington says that for every dollar the government spent in the fiscal year just ended, it took in 43 cents. Won't take long to get rich at that rate.

An Open Invitation

(Apologies to San Diego Sun)

THIS is a cordial invitation to whom it may concern. It concerns all those who plan to do any Mixing of highways and highbills. Turning a corner while driving too fast. Passing other cars while going up hill. Speeding through streets and highways. Turning around from the wheel to chat with people in the back seat.

Taking a nap at the wheel. Beating the train to the crossing. Taking a chance. Riding four in the front seat. This invitation is for the convenience of your relatives and of The Journal.

You are requested to leave your obituary and photograph at The Journal city desk, 117 East Fifth street. This will assure prompt attention later.

This is the season when the fellow who brags that he takes a cold shower every morning is afraid to go swimming in Balboa bay because the water is too chilly.

Security for Rail Workers

SEVERAL days ago, in recognition of Railroad week, we congratulated the heads of the great transportation companies for their rapid strides during the past year toward stream-lined management and equipment. Today we want to congratulate the employees of the vast iron network on the old age retirement plan which assures them security after their working days are over.

Under federal legislation, each employee contributes 3½ per cent of his earnings, and his company matches the sum, to an insurance fund which is administered by Uncle Sam. The pensions range from $30 to $120 a month and go to employees who have worked 30 years and have reached the age of 65.

This self-supporting pension program goes far to eliminate that bugbear of most workers—a penniless old age. It is a valuable step toward human security.

Whimsies of O. O. McIntyre

O. O. McIntyre

Francis Albertanti has become to the New York sports writers what Dexter Fellows is to the circus. A legend and a peg upon which to hang a fable. He is an energetic, cigar-smoking Italian with all the vivacity of his race plus a nimble flair for ballyhoo.

Francis began as a sort of office boy on the old Evening Mail, was graduated to the sports department and, under the tutelage of Grantland Rice, began to write amateur notes and so successfully he was sent to the Olympic meet at Stockholm. And came back wearing the first beret the town ever saw.

All his knowledge of life and language was picked up in the newspaper shops. Today he can write a picturesque story with a surprising polish of English. He writes solely by ear and does not know a single grammatical rule, with a cadence suggesting the ruff scuff of the Italian quarter where he was born.

He has a childish adoration for the heroes of fiction. And would rather take a place on sport bench. His first trumpeting was for Schmelz. In public circles he has won a sobriquet of The Signor. And the newspaper pack has made The Signor quite an oracle.

New York's mansions have swung back to the old-fashioned door-knockers. I noted almost a dozen in several blocks walk through the fashionable marble-facaded sweep of East 70th street. Brass designs of masted steamers, curtsying ladies in billowy hoop skirts, cavaliers on horseback and one design was a replica of Diogenes with a lantern. Probably a disillusioned investor.

The James Cagney-looking lunch counter boy at a Grand Central drug store told me about a strange patron, a wisecracker, a fellow, who minces into the soda fountain in a mignon way every mid-afternoon for a double sized iced drink. He fairly gulps it down, waits for five minutes or so and is visibly shaken by a chill. After 15 minutes of shivering and teeth chattering he departs. They call him, whoops!, Chilly Clarence.

With her present jaunt to the Soviet, Hattie Bell Johnston is probably America's most traveled lady. The widow of William Johnston, a long World editor, has been on the go constantly since his passing, having learned the trick of traveling without trunks. This trip includes Russia, by auto to Tiflis, then Batumi and a jolly little sea craft for Crimea and the Crimean War. Then she goes on to Odessa, Sevastopol, Kiev, into Poland, on to Latvia and Estonia, finally Helsinki and a motor trip to the Arctic through Finnish Lapland.

I heard an appealing story of a lovely 4-year-old goldenhead today. Her parents devote 15 minutes after breakfast each morning to Bible reading. Not long ago, they noticed the girl, following their reading, would retire with the book to her nursery. Curiosity prompted the mother to peek in after several days. At her little desk, the child would turn the pages and at intervals exclaim "There tiz!" Coming closer and looking over her shoulder, the mother saw that the exclamation came after her finger came upon the word "God." The tot had learned to recognize it from a wall motto in her nursery.

Karl Von Weizsacker, relaxing in California following his voyage on the maiden flight of the Hindenburg, told of the cozy little bar aboard ship that had a special attraction for one passenger. A passenger who perhaps might be called the first Driftless Drunk or Flying Bun. He came aboard, went direct to the bar, and never left the aluminum rail the entire trip.

Thingumbobs: Florence Walton and Grace Field are both in Hollywood and may go into pictures with Dick Simon, a comedian. Schuster, could make his way as a concert pianist. . . . Every spring Clarence Budington Kelland resigns as president of the Dutch Treat and just as regularly is drafted for another year. . . . Ben Finney is back to the Orient, and rustication on the coast. The Burr McIntosh, hale and hearty at 75, is booming his voice over the radio in California. . . . Edna Goodrich is considering a character role in the films.

Hint for wives of pipe smokers: I know a man who gave up pipe smoking because the taste became offensive. Some weeks later he learned his wife had put sachet bags in his tobacco jar just to remove that odor.

EVERYDAY MOVIES

"I'm only providing one breeze to each floor so they'll just have to leave their doors open."

The Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON.—William Washington Howes, the new acting postmaster general, has a glad-hand mounted on ball bearings, and he has back-slapped his way right into the cabinet.

There is no place where he does not feel at home, or where he does not make you feel at home. But he is at his best in an old-fashioned political gathering. There no one can out-glad-hand him, not even James Aloysius Farley, whose ornate walnut-paneled office he will soon occupy.

In appearance Howes is as plain as an old shoe. He wears hornrim glasses, soft collars, shirt-sleeves, and a black, thick pompadour. Shorter than Jim Farley, Bill weighs about 250 pounds, on to Odessa, Sevastopol, Kiev, into Poland, on to Latvia and Estonia, finally Helsinki and a motor trip to the Arctic through Finnish Lapland.

He exerts Farley in one respect—having three double chins against Big Jim's two. In this he follows the precedent set by the first postmaster general, Benjamin Franklin.

POLITICS EARLY
Bill began training for his present career while a student at the University of Minnesota, where he was a great ringer of class spirit. The boys and girls on the campus were a little lukewarm about getting out to root for good old Minnesota, Bill Howes was right there with the pep tonic.

He was the chief urger-on-in a very urgent study body. There was not a fraternity man. There was no such nobility as his ego. But with the help of his father's moderately successful insurance man, he did acquire a part interest in a cigar store during his sophomore year. It became a hot point for athletics and the betting center for all games.

At law school Howes joined the legal fraternity of Delta Theta Phi, and during his second year attended the national fraternity convention, where he shared a room with the dean of the law school. Howes used the occasion to get the dean's advice on where a budding young lawyer should practice, and was told that the state of South Dakota needed lawyers almost as badly as it always needs water.

SOUTH DAKOTA LAW
So Bill Howes took his final year of law at the University of South Dakota, during which he and his friend, the dean, conducted a survey of the state to ascertain the exact spot where lawyers were scarcest.

They found that in the little town of Wolsley, population 458, not one lawyer was to be found at all.

So Bill Howes went there with the proverbial $49 in his pocket, registered at the best hotel (there was more than one), rented an office for $12 a month (on which he paid $5 down) and hired a sign painter to paint a shingle with the biggest gilt letters possible.

A few minutes later, a cowpuncher came in with a title to be verified. Howes charged him $5 and thus paid for his shingle. Howes has never made a fortune at law, but he has made a comfortable income, though he did not stay in Wolsley to make it. His home in recent years has been in Huron, a town of 11,000, and among the largest in the state.

The big thing Howes did for South Dakota—at least in the opinion of Jim Farley, who rewarded him for it—was to inaugurate Democracy. For many years Democrats in South Dakota had been as scarce as Republicans in Mississippi. But Howes swung the state in 1932, and says he will do it again this November.

SENATORIAL DAUGHTER

He failed to swing it for himself, however, when he ran for governor in 1920, though he was elected state senator in 1916 and state's attorney in 1926 and 1928.

It was while Bill was speaking on the floor of the South Dakota senate that a messenger came to announce the birth of a daughter. Whereupon the legislature passed a bill officially naming the young lady "Senator."

There is no doubt about Howes' political loyalty. One evening he was playing poker with Royal Johnson, ex-congressman from South Dakota, and campaign manager for Senator Borah. Johnson was declaiming on the political obstacles faced by Roosevelt and intimated that Howes would not put up any real money on the President.

"I've got $5,000 that says Roosevelt will win against any candidate in the field," replied Howes. But he got no taker.

FOOTBALL FAN

Howes is unexcitable, easy-going, and is as much at home at the Maryland race tracks near Washington as he is in the ornate offices of the postoffice department. He also remains a great football fan, and on occasion has traveled half way across the continent to cheer his alma mater.

He enjoys hunting almost as much as he does racing, though he doesn't get out to work at it as much. His nimrod friends in the northwest make up for this, however, by sending him ice pheasant and woodcock all during the hunting season.

Howes has the same miraculous memory which he has for names, and he is a faithful, reasonably efficient administrator of the postoffice department. But there are three things at which the acting postmaster general excels his chief. He has a laugh which is louder and lasts longer than any known laugh in the government. He is more facile as an impromptu speaker than Big Jim, who likes to have the words written out for him so he won't make any "typical prairie state" errors.

And finally, Bill Howes likes to dance. In fact, he insists on dancing whenever he hears a saxophone, plunging about the floor with his favorite partner, the former Hazel Donna Gordon, whom he married in Westington, S. D. He doesn't have Farley's coax, either, to trot out with his debutante daughter, Mary Senate Howes.

MERRY-GO-ROUND

Senator Jim Couzens is introducing something new in electioneering. The multi-millionaire one-time partner of Henry Ford is touring the Great Lakes section of Michigan in a palatial yacht which he rented for the summer. . . . One of Gov. Alf Landon's key utility experts is now an official of the motor carrier bureau of the interstate commerce commission.

He is H. M. Roberts, chief of the section of certificates and insurance. Roberts was selected for the federal job because of his outstanding service with the Kansas state government.

LIFE IS BRIGHTER

To the editor: I have undergone an experience in the last four weeks that leads me to believe that the people who are continually ranting about the world being upside down, and the people in such a state of mind that all American principles of man and womanhood have been forgotten, are sadly mistaken. And I for one will continue to believe that, "As Ye Sow So Shall Ye Reap."

Four weeks ago I was unexpectedly taken to a hospital where I underwent a major operation. When things looked the darkest and life did not seem worth fighting for, and I seemed just one of the many grains of sand on a sandy beach, I woke up one morning to find that hundreds of friends were vitally interested in my well-being, and were sending me huge bouquets of flowers, letters, postcards and telephone messages, all with the same words of good cheer, "Keep your chin up, we are pulling for you."

Life took on an entirely different aspect. I would like to thank my many, many friends for their kindly thoughts and deeds, and to assure them that my appreciation cannot be expressed in words.—MRS. GRACE COLLINS.

SUCCESSFUL MEDIATION
(Seattle Star)

This week marked the end of a long strike of automobile mechanics in Seattle. The way that strike was ended is of importance to every employer, and to every worker in the west, for it marked a real step forward in developing a better relationship between business and labor. It was settled by a city mediation board.

Several months ago, a board, consisting of representatives of workers and of business men, was appointed in Seattle. Its duties were to try to find peaceable and fair ways to settle strikes.

The automobile mechanics struck. The board went into action. At first, it did not seem to be doing much—then suddenly it announced that the workmen and the employers had gotten together, talked over their differences, and found a settlement acceptable to all.

The action of the board put men back to work, stopped needless suffering and financial loss. By ending this one strike, Seattle's labor arbitration board has more with all the "love and kisses" its continued activity for settling labor troubles will surely cause other cities to adopt the same plan.

Raymondita Yorba, "little Raymond," is back in the county jail again and will probably stay there for the next six months unless he dies or an earthquake happens to shake the jail down.

There is not a country in Europe where it would be possible to start a war if the people had been taught history accurately for one generation.—Dr. William E. Dodd, U. S. ambassador to Germany.

I didn't get to last night's bar meeting. It was necessary. The speaker talked about trusts, but when you haven't anything to trust to anybody, attending a meeting would be just like adding another cipher to another cipher.

Understand the telephone company is soon to issue another county directory. If your name is written there it's because you have answered the monthly invitations by check or other satisfactory payment. I do not know of any book which is consulted more often than a telephone directory. Better get in it.

M. L. Pearson says if he was running The Journal he would buy me a square meal. M. L., if you will meet me clandestinely I'll tell you where to plant that suggestion which might help you get your wish and me a square meal.

Got a card yesterday which said: "Money talks." Yep, I guess so, but it hasn't been sayin' much to me lately.

I forwarded to Los Angeles this week a number of Elks who wanted to attend the Grand Lodge convention. My vacation starts later in the season when the temperature is more reasonable. I don't know whether it is age or experience, but I am inclined to seek solitude instead of solitude, and me away from the maddening crowd. Everybody to his own notion, however, and if you like hands and beaches, the national convention of the Elks ought to provide everything you are looking for.

After listening to Ruddy Wied-off play a saxophone, I have concluded there is some music in it. My trouble has been in not hearing the right man play it.

This is "Railroad Week" so this item is appropriate. You travelers who think railroad transportation is not a comfort, listen to this one. Santa Ana tourist en route east, gets off the train at one of the schedule stops in Nebraska where the temperature is 113, and gets right back in the train again where the air-conditioned temperature is 80.

Maybe the bread that mother used to bake was better, but most women who let the baker bake it this kind of weather.

I thought the complaints about low awnings had subsided with the departure of "Sky" Dunlap, but Chet Baxter wants to up the awnings. He is supported in this campaign by Rufus Cartwright, Park Roper, Frank Perkins, Ashby Turner and other members of the elongated club, who are willing to tip their hats to the ladies, but feel no etiquette obligation to an awning.

Pedestrian narrowly escapes being run over by an ice wagon, corner Fourth and Main. What a happy ending that would have been.

As if the heat was not enough, some fellow across the table from me suggested the appropriateness of a mint julep. Very often one finds himself obliged to finish his lunch under such distressing conditions.

Conversing with a friend about a town where a friend of mine proposes to return and pass his remaining days, brought the information that the place ceased to be a town 25 years ago. Now what bothers me is should I tell my friend, or let him find it out for himself?

Two men in front of bank. They could not have had a busy day as they were bemoaning the fact that it would be twenty minutes before the bank opened.

Fern friend tells me about a case where the "pie that mother used to bake" didn't get such a cordial welcome in daughter-in-law's home. Mother had sent a relative to son's house with the proverbial home-made pie. The messenger delivered the pastry with all the "love and kisses" hokey, then daughter-in-law exploded and said: "Will you tell mother for me to come and get this d— pie and take it back home with her, and take her son along with it."

Newspaper heading: "Lightning rips clothes from man." Here's an idea for installment collectors.

Patrolman: "The next fellow who comes up and asks me if it is hot enough will be the last. And there has been about 5000 deaths in the Midwest from heat, and none out here. Not even from canned heat." It really does get tiresome listening to the same subject all the time, and if the patrolman loses his temper and smashes someone on the nose I am of the opinion that it would be difficult to get a jury to return a verdict of guilty.

Charley Walker's suggestion that we organize an excursion to Florida has been referred to the committee on suppression.
